Kohan & Bablove Injury Attorneys, a law firm based in Newport Beach, CA, is offering to cover the medical bills of their personal injury and car accident clients in Orange County while they take care of the details of the claim or lawsuit. They also want to emphasize that they are one step ahead of the defense's strategies, having been attorneys for Fortune 500 and insurance firms alike in the past. They are always focused on securing the highest possible compensation for the client's medical bills and injuries.

A spokesperson for Kohan & Bablove Injury Attorneys says, "A car accident is an unexpected, major life event, possibly involving multiple injuries and serious property and vehicle damage. The fallout from a wreck can cause a spiral of hurt, confusion, and even despair. And with your financial and medical future on the line, Kohan & Bablove Injury Attorneys can make the difference in whether you get compensated by the negligent party and their insurance company. Let our law office be your legal guide on the path to financial recovery, all the way from initial, informal free consultation to the final settlement."

They want to point out that car accident victims need not have deep pockets to make sure they get the assistance of a dependable lawyer. Through Kohan & Bablove Injury Attorneys, accident victims need not pay anything unless they get the compensation they deserve from the defendant and insurance firm.

They also want to emphasize that while many car accident lawyers are only too willing to allow their plaintiff clients to agree to a lesser settlement just to avoid going to court, the lawyers at Kohan & Bablove Injury Attorneys really care about their clients and are ready to fight for their rights even if they have to bring the fight into the courtroom. In addition, their personal injury attorneys have the trial experience to prove this.

The location of the Kohan & Bablove Injury Attorneys firm is also strategic, allowing them to accept clients and cases from all throughout Southern California. This allows them to accept cases for accidents that occurred in Orange County, Irvine County, Riverside County, Los Angeles County, San Diego County, or San Bernardino County.

They also want to advise car accident victims on what steps to take right after the accident. The first thing to do is to remain at the accident scene even when one feels injured. It is advisable not to move the car because leaving the accident scene can result into criminal charges for fleeing the scene of the accident. It is important to remain at the scene and wait for the arrival of law enforcement and/or emergency medical personnel.

It is also essential to exchange information with the other driver. For those who have suffered catastrophic injuries, this particular step may not be possible, but this step has to be followed, whenever possible to identify the at-fault party. The third step is to report the accident to the police. The police report would be an important document when making the claims.

The fourth step is to gather evidence and witness information. The fifth step is to consult with a doctor as soon as possible even if the injuries appear to be minor. This is because some injuries don't become apparent immediately and the medical record is important documentation for the claims to be filed later. Finally, the sixth step is to contact the insurance firm to inform them about the accident but they strongly advise accident victims to get the services of a lawyer first before talking with the insurance company.

Founded in 2016, Kohan & Bablove Injury Attorneys was created by three former defense lawyers who got tired of helping insurance firms and large corporations save money by paying the least possible amount for personal injury claims. They focused on using their years of experience in handling the biggest and toughest claims for the benefit of the individual.

A spokesperson for the firm says, "Our experience being on the 'other side' gives us a unique perspective, and a wealth of knowledge about our 'new' opponents that most 'plaintiff' firms will never have. We know the ins and outs of the decision making structure at the biggest insurance companies. In fact, we probably already have the cell phone number of the person making the decision on how much money to pay."

Those who require the services of experienced accident lawyers can check out the Kohan & Bablove Injury Attorneys website or contact them on the phone or through email.
