iFOAM of Baton Rouge is helping homeowners in the city and nearby areas reduce their utility bills by replacing or upgrading their property's insulation. For more information, visit Web Site.

Spray foam insulation offers one of the best returns on investment for homeowners trying to pick their next major home improvement task. More effective at insulating properties than other contemporary options such as fiberglass and organic insulation, spray foam insulation allows homeowners to improve their energy efficiency by up to 30 percent, leading to massive savings in their power bills over the home's lifespan.

Apart from trapping more heat, spray foam insulation is also known for its ability to combat air filtration. Spray foam starts as a highly pressurized liquid that expands when exposed to the air and fills in all the gaps in the home's outer walls forming an airtight seal. So, homeowners get to enjoy better air quality as it helps fight seasonal allergies and the proliferation of mold.

Installation costs vary based on the size of the property and the homeowner's specific needs. Insulating an entire house can take several days while just insulating the home's attic can be achieved in a couple of hours. Working with experts in the field, such as the experienced and fully trained crew at iFOAM Insulation, is the best way to ensure a high-quality result.

iFOAM of Baton Rouge offers a range of residential, commercial, and industrial spray foam insulation services including residential retrofit, insulation removal, air sealing, blown-in attic insulation, crawl space insulation, new constructions, and more. The location serves all kinds of properties in Baton Rouge, Prairieville, Baker, Central, Denham Springs, Gonzales, Shenandoah, Walker, Watson, Zachary, and surrounding areas.

The Baton Rouge insulation services contractor is owned and operated by Cassie and Ty Danton, and Branson West. Ty Danton is a former Army officer and combat veteran.
