July 31, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Sullivan Contracting, a roofing company based in Griswold, CT, would like to reach out to local home and business owners who want to utilize the industry's best materials and expertise. The company provides inspections, repairs, installations, and replacements to all kinds of properties. They make use of high-quality materials from trusted manufacturers to create roofs that are guaranteed to last years.

One of the most important (yet commonly overlooked) parts of any house is the roof. The roof is what protects the house's interior from the elements, keeping the sun, wind, rain, and snow from destroying all valuables and other possessions. Homeowners do not always realize how important a good roof is, and this may lead them to hire less-than-capable roofers to handle the installation or repair of their roof. However, it is always best to hire a highly-qualified professional to handle such projects, and this is especially true when it comes to the roof.

"Sullivan Contracting provides excellence in all roofing services, windows, gutters, and siding projects," says George Sullivan, owner of the company. "We have many years of experience and can discuss the benefits and drawbacks of all the options on the table so that you can make an informed decision when planning your project. At Sullivan Contracting, we are proud to offer a variety of colors and styles for our roofing, windows, gutters, and siding services, ensuring you'll find something that works for your property." The process of getting Sullivan Contracting to handle a roofing job is simple and straightforward ? by design. The company understands the importance of being reliable and easy to work with, so they make a great effort to streamline the whole process. Once a customer gives the company a call, for instance, they can expect a team of specialists out at their property within a very short period.

The roofing experts will then evaluate the situation, carefully inspecting the customer's roof to try and identify the source of any problems they may be having and determine the scale of the project at hand. Once this is settled, they provide a detailed proposal to the customer that outlines all the work that has to be done (and the cost of said work). Sullivan Contracting is among the best in the field, and many Eastern Connecticut residents consider Sullivan Contracting to be the golden standard for roofing companies.

There are a number of reasons why Griswold residents choose to work with Sullivan Contracting. First on the list of reasons is the fact that the company offers 100% free roofing estimates. Some homeowners may delay having a roofing specialist come over and give a quotation due to concerns about the cost of such a service. To counter this, Sullivan Contracting is always happy to provide free, accurate, and transparent estimates explaining how much a job is likely to cost.

Every member of the company's roofing teams has over 20 years' worth of proven experience and has worked on countless roofing projects. As a result, customers can be sure they are getting the best roofing service their hard-earned money can buy. Additionally, the company is fully licensed, bonded, and insured. When it comes down to the actual work, Sullivan Contracting's teams do all that they can to stand head and shoulders above the competition. This means 100% daily job site cleanups and 18-point final roof inspections once the job is done.

The company has managed to build an excellent reputation among local customers. One highly positive Sullivan Contracting customer review from Mandy C. states, "Great experience for my roof replacement. Beginning with the initial consultation, George came prepared and explained the product and process to me and took the time to answer any questions I had. Once scheduled, he kept me informed on time frame and scheduling."

The review explains that "Roof replacement took one day, they arrived early, were very professional and polite, cleaning as they went. All my bushes and plants were covered to avoid damage. My patio was actually cleaner when they left than when they had arrived! Very impressed with the service, roof looks great. Will be happy to use this company again and will definitely refer to others."

Sullivan Contracting can be reached via phone or email. The company also welcomes inquiries over social media.
