Kansas, MO - The economy in the United States has gone through many fluctuations in the previous years. This equated to a decrease in stock market valuations and an economic recession that radiated to further regions in the world. Lately it has rebounded with the emergence of entrepreneurs and local businesses making their statement and coming out of the tough situation. This was aided by a renewed belief in local companies.

One local company, MKC Products, has produced professional dental guards to assist customers in the expanding dental device market. This mouth guard is manufactured fully in the USA. Every stage of the development of the product from design to manufacturing was done in the USA. Customers who purchase this product would be doing well to support the local economy and its workers.

With the mouth guard made in the USA, the customer is sure to receive a product of the highest quality. The mouth guards which can also function as teeth whitening trays are manufactured with the customers in mind. The mouth guard is made from thermoplastic polyvinyl material. That makes it very durable yet flexible.

The material used to make the mouth guard is also BPA-Free and FDA approved. The polyvinyl material being free of Bisphenol A (BPA) will not leak any harmful chemicals into the mouth of the wearer. Additionally, the company notes that the material used in the manufacture of these dental devices is approved by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). With these features the mouth guard has become highly appreciated by customers on Amazon where the product is exclusively sold.

The mouth guard is soft and pliable. This makes the dental guard capable of being molded to fit specific mouth shapes or alignments of teeth. Even though flexible, it will remain in the wearer's mouth and not be dislodged during sleep if used to prevent teeth grinding. It also can last for a long period of time - up to twelve months despite continued daily use.

Another feature that will make customers appreciate these mouth guards / teeth whitening trays is that they are designed by a dentist. The purchaser of the mouth guard can receive direct dentist support with their product. Apart from functioning as a way to whiten teeth and as a night guard against teeth grinding the dental guards can also be used as an athletic mouth guard.

Customers who purchase three of any of MKC Products can receive 10% off their total order. They simply have to enter the code GA57BTBW to access the discount at checkout.
