Pool tables are complex structures and are very heavy. Thus, it is vital to get professional help when in need of moving a pool table to a new home or business location. There are a lot of parts to disassemble, which is why getting the help of experts of doing the disassembly makes sense. There is a particular process of disassembling the parts of the pool table. Each component will need to be wrapped carefully and protected for the move. Once the disassembled parts have reached their destination, the team of professionals from Trusted Billiards will start reassembling them. With so many parts to put together, having professionals put them together again is necessary. Furthermore, the pool table will need to be assured that it is leveled. More about their pool table moving services can be gleaned from the Trusted Billiards Phoenix - Facebook page.

Trusted Billiards also provides pool table refelting, which is also known as pool table recovering. It involves the removal and replacement of the colored felt covering of the pool table's surface. Aside from the color, where a wide range of colors is available, it is possible to choose between a standard felt and upgrade felt. Standard felt is typically a 21-ounce blended fabric. It is heavy felt and has a higher nap when compared to worsted wool. Standard felt will usually last for seven to 10 years under normal use if the billiard table is maintained properly and not abused. Upgraded felt is made from worsted wool and is usually preferred by players who want a "faster" table. Upgrade felt can last for 15 to 20 years as long as it is maintained properly and not abused.

Trusted Billiards can also provide pool table repair and maintenance. They carry dozens of pool table parts, such as pockets, cushions, shims, gulleys, pool table lights, ball racks, table felt, and more. They can also provide regular maintenance services to ensure the pool table will last for many years to come.
