Haslet, TX - October 19, 2023 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Texas Medicare insurance broker Mike Hagan from Smart Medigap Plans is encouraging seniors turning 65 to start exploring their insurance options today. Given that Medicare and its various plans can be incredibly confusing to navigate, he says the best approach is to consult with an expert today in order to ensure full health insurance coverage for the foreseeable future.

“Since you are turning 65,” Mike Hagan comments, “you will undoubtedly be interested in the healthcare and insurance options that will be afforded to you as an individual who is eligible for Medicare. The good news is that there is much to explore and discover, and you will likely find high quality plans that meet your healthcare needs without burdening you with unfavorable terms or excessive premiums. Unfortunately, Medicare is also a complicated topic, so you will likely find it nearly impossible to get what you want all by yourself. Thankfully, however, you don’t have to do any of this alone.”

Medicare has seen several iterations since its introduction in the mid 1960s. As is the case with any legislation or system that has been around for decades, it has gone through several updates, revisions and overhauls at various levels. This constant adjustment has made it difficult, if not outright impossible, for the average American to keep track of the plans they like most, especially with Medigap involved.

Mike Hagan seeks to simplify the process for Texas seniors by learning as much as he can about their needs and preferences before searching for the right plans himself. He seeks out every appropriate option and then presents each of these to the client in question. At this point, the client is free to ask as many questions as they need to make an informed choice regarding their healthcare insurance. This entire service, Hagan is pleased to share, is also available to older seniors who are already on Medicare. As the industry evolves, new plans are constantly being introduced to the market that may offer better coverage or even lower premiums. Given that most people want to avoid paying too much for their healthcare coverage, they are welcome to utilize Hagan's assistance to find plans that suit them better. Even if their sole goal is lower their premiums, he will be happy to help.

As an independent Medicare insurance specialist, Hagan is able to offer clients his undivided attention on every case. Where other brokers may work alongside insurers and be beholden to their profits in some way, Hagan's priorities are exclusively to his clients. In practice, his clients have found that this allows him to focus on finding plans that provide the widest coverage possible without consequently being accompanied by steep premiums.

Those who have worked with other insurance brokers in the past may be familiar with a common situation where they are encouraged to exceed their budget in order to sign on for an expensive plan. These plans may be offered by a specific insurer or brand as well, which could be further proof that the broker has a standing agreement with said organization to upsell wherever possible. Those who chose to work with Hagan, however, will find that the experience at Smart Medigap Plans is quite the opposite. They can get the coverage they need without breaking the bank.

Hagan explains that he can shop all the major brands, including United Healthcare, Cigna, Aetna, Humana, Blue Cross Blue Shield and so on to find the best option for any client. He has access to more than 20 options of carriers, an advantage that is directly passed on to each client. He also has a variety of products to offer from Dental and Vision to Gap plans.

Mike Hagan is licensed in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and Michigan, and he has been in the industry for the better part of a decade. He is dedicated to placing his considerable expertise and resources at the disposal of his clients, and he invites the community to reach out today if they are turning 65 or wish to lower their premiums.
