March 26, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

For the year of 2014, not just one, but four Honda models have been named America's Most Popular Vehicles in Their Segments With Individual U.S. Car Buyers.

It's one thing to earn a title, but when that title is kept consecutively, that is more than accomplishment. Once again, the Honda Accord, Civic, CR-V, and Odyssey have continued as America's Most Popular Vehicles for the year of 2014 based on retail registration analysis. All of these award-winning vehicles and more are available at Benson Honda in San Antonio.

The Honda Accord was named the most popular car in America based on these numbers. What is so special about the Honda Accord is that this is a sedan that provides luxury without sacrificing efficiency, and vice versa.

The Accord LX is built with a standard 2.4-liter DOHC i-VTEC engine that can produce up to 185 horsepower. However, it doesn't stop there for the Accord. You can choose amongst several different trims to find the exact model that you want. For those who crave more power and responsiveness in their vehicles, the Accord EX-L V-6 is equipped with a 3.5-liter SOHC i-VTEC engine that can accomplish 278 horsepower, all while maintaining enough efficiency to take you wherever you need to go without guzzling down the gas.

The Civic finished the year more than 44,000 units ahead of its nearest competitor, proving itself once again. The Civic was built with the incredible fuel economy that we all wish for in a vehicle, but in addition to practical performance, the Civic has innovative interior technology to keep you entertained and connected when out on the road.

These features include a seven-inch touch screen with access to smartphone contacts, navigation, information, and even audio settings. The Civic's safety technologies include Honda LaneWatch, Vehicle Stability Assist, Brake Assist, and even a Rearview Camera!

The Honda CR-V earned the title of #1 SUV in America and best-selling SUV of the decade, while it was concluded that retail car buyers choose the Odyssey more than any other minivan in America. Honda is known for its quality and affordability, as well as versatility. The CR-V is the perfect vehicle for almost any lifestyle. Whether you're just starting out on your own or getting that first taste of independence, or you want to choose the right vehicle for your daughter who is about to flit off to college, the CR-V will be the best companion. If you're just starting out with your new family and it's still growing, opt for the Honda Odyssey! The Odyssey is the complete package, being able to get you from point A to point B efficiently, as well as entertainment technology to keep the kids entertained, and safety features to keep them protected, while on the journey.
