December 23, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Soulsticewellness.com, one of the top experts in Medical Massage and Peri-Operative Therapy, has announced its newest services now available to residents of Denver and the surrounding areas.

Over the years, Massage Therapy has proven to have more benefits than just alleviating muscle pain and injury. It has also been discovered that it assists the body by promoting faster healing from chronic illnesses. Many people now recognize how Medical Massage Therapy can reduce healing time significantly after surgery and promote overall health and well-being.

Soulsticewellness.com offers not only Injury & Accident Therapy, but Health Maintenance Therapy services as well throughout the Denver region. They specialize in Peri-Operative Therapy that utilizes gentle, manual, techniques that assist clients going through the rehabilitation process. It helps promote faster recovery, soften scar tissue, and reduces bruising. Their techniques ensure sensitivity to physical trauma and makes use of light, ?pain-free? touch methods.

Soulstice Wellness has been a known figure in massage therapy since being established in 2004 by Ann Brooks and Kent Lemburg. They have since expanded their services to promote a wide range of therapy programs. These programs expedite the healing and recovery process for all of their clients? post surgery or physical trauma.

Being the leading experts in Peri-Operative Massage therapy and Medical Massage Therapy Denver, SoulsticeWellness.com has given each of their clients the best in rehabilitation and recovery treatments. This has helped ensure that they aren't bed stricken for prolonged periods of time. Their treatments work and have helped many surgical and physical trauma patients regain their strength and even the use of their limbs in some cases. Over the years, many of their clients have expressed the lessening of depression following therapy, improved sleep and circulation, as well as feeling better in a decreased amount of time.

To ensure faster healing, they encourage their clients to book an appointment with them so their highly trained team of medical therapists can understand what their needs are and create a personalized treatment program for them. After all of the details are discussed, treatment can begin as early as 7 days after the appointment.
