Go Industries, a veteran in the provision of truck accessories, law enforcement gear, and bespoke manufacturing solutions, has unveiled a groundbreaking addition to its comprehensive lineup of truck accessories. The company is proud to introduce a new heavy-duty headache rack, crafted to bolster both the protection and functionality of trucks. Made domestically to fit all full-size pickups, this headache rack has been meticulously designed for both durability and straightforward usability, requiring no cutting or drilling for installation. It also accommodates trucks with a tilt body by allowing the rack to pivot forward, facilitating easy access to the engine compartment.

Crafted from sturdy materials, the headache rack features a robust 6" x 2" steel top tube, supported by 2" x 2" bottom and vertical tubes, and is stabilized by a substantial 24" x 3" base for enhanced structural integrity. It includes large 3/16" louvers, offering significant protection for the cab's rear window. Customers can choose between white or black powder coat finishes, ensuring a match for their vehicle's aesthetic. The inclusion of integrated LED red and clear lights, with an optional third brake light, augments both visibility and safety. Go Industries also provides strong assurance of quality through a three-year warranty covering materials and craftsmanship, in addition to a six-month finish warranty.

This new offering reflects Go Industries' ongoing dedication to addressing the diverse needs of truck owners who prioritize both the enhancement of their vehicle's functionality and its protection.
