London, UK - June 24, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Hamilton Darcey LLP is excited to announce their new specialized services in the Knightsbridge area, focusing on party wall matters. Already well-known in London, Hamilton Darcey brings their expertise to resolving issues about shared walls, boundary lines, and other related disputes under the Party Wall etc. Act 1996.

Hamilton Darcey's experienced surveyors are here to help property owners with the challenges of party wall agreements in one of London's most high-end neighborhoods. The Party Wall etc. Act 1996 requires neighbors to agree before starting any construction that affects shared walls or boundaries. The team at Hamilton Darcey works to ensure that everyone involved finds a fair and balanced solution.

Chris Cooper, a representative from Hamilton Darcey, shared his thoughts: "Dealing with party wall issues can be tough for many homeowners, especially in places like Knightsbridge. Our goal is to make this process simpler by offering expert advice and support, making sure that the rights of all property owners are respected."

The first step in the party wall process is to send a written notice to neighbors about the planned work. This must follow legal timelines and helps avoid problems later. Hamilton Darcey's surveyors look over the proposed construction, find potential problems early on, and help make terms that everyone can agree on. If neighbors don't agree with the proposals, the team helps create legally binding Party Wall Awards to protect everyone's interests.
