Metro Fence, a notable provider of fencing services in Colorado, proudly announces its 40th anniversary. For the past four decades, the Denver Fence Company has provided a wide range of fencing solutions, addressing both residential and commercial needs. They have served areas such as Denver, Colorado Springs, Westminster, Fort Collins, and Arvada.

Their client base includes homeowners, general contractors, facility managers, private companies, and municipalities. Metro Fence offers installation, maintenance, and repair options for various types of fences. Metro Fence specializes in several key areas.

Commercial Fencing: Metro Fence offers a variety of commercial fencing options. These include athletic fields, chain link fencing, ornamental iron fencing, crash-rated fencing, netting systems, and gates with operators. They also provide solutions for public facilities, data centers, energy facilities, warehouse facilities, water treatment facilities, and multi-family residences. Their goal is to deliver security, privacy, and value to meet the unique needs of commercial entities.

Residential Fencing: For residential projects, Metro Fence provides wood fences, gates with operators, chain link fences, ornamental fencing, and vinyl fences. Additionally, they offer extensive options for multi-family residences and new homes. Each residential fencing solution is designed to improve a home's appearance while ensuring privacy and security.

Installation, Maintenance, and Repair: Metro Fence doesn't just install fences; they also offer maintenance and repair services. This ensures that all fences remain in good condition over the years. The company provides free estimates and consultations to help clients choose the best fencing solution for their needs.

Greg Sherman, CEO of Metro Fence, shared his pride in the company's milestone. "Celebrating 40 years as Colorado's top Denver Fence Company is a significant achievement for us. We've always worked hard to deliver the best fencing solutions and services. Our commitment has always been towards contributing to our local communities and ensuring their security and privacy," he said.

The company's longevity is attributed to its dedication to quality services and strong relationships with clients. This has helped Metro Fence grow consistently and maintain a trusted name in the industry. Residents and businesses across the Front Range can attest to the company's dedication to quality and service.

Another testament to the company's dedication is its team of experienced professionals who ensure that every installation is done correctly and efficiently. Regular maintenance and timely repairs mean fences installed by Metro Fence are reliable and long-lasting.

Metro Fence supports various sectors, including public and private entities, and provides high-security fencing for military installations and data centers.

The company's website includes a contact page for those interested in learning more about their services or engaging their fencing services. Phone numbers, fax numbers, and email addresses are available for easy communication. Clients can request a free quote to start any fencing project, and their experts are always available to offer advice on the best options.

Greg Sherman also emphasized the community's importance to their operations. "We love being part of Colorado's vibrant community. We take pride in bringing the fencing dreams of homeowners and business owners to life. This 40-year journey wouldn't have been possible without their unwavering support, and our commitment to them remains stronger than ever," he said.

Metro Fence's commitment to social responsibility is clear through its partnerships with organizations like Freedom Service Dogs, showcasing the company's dedication to not just business, but also to making

Colorado a better place.

With four decades of experience, Metro Fence remains a dependable fence provider committed to security, privacy, and value. Their journey reflects their dedication to quality and the community, ensuring they remain a trusted name for years to come.
