

Go Industries Unveils New Heavy Duty Mud Flaps for Ultimate Truck Protection

July 10, 2024

Richardson, TX - July 10, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Go Industries Inc. has introduced a new line of products to its wide array of truck accessories. The latest offering includes heavy duty mud flaps designed to provide top-notch protection for both standard and dually trucks. These flaps aim to shield vehicles from road debris and reduce the damage caused by rocks, mud, and other harsh elements.

Go Industries, serving its customers since 1978, continues to evolve while maintaining reliability. All products are made in the USA, and these heavy duty mud flaps are crafted from durable, non-recycled rubber, suitable for major truck brands like Chevrolet, Dodge Ram, Ford, and GMC. Truck owners can select from various options depending on whether they drive a single wheel or a dually truck.

"These new heavy-duty mud flaps reflect our commitment to quality and customer satisfaction," said a representative from Go Industries. "Our goal is to provide truck owners with reliable and tough accessories that enhance vehicle protection and functionality."

In addition to this, Go Industries offers specialized equipment through custom manufacturing services. Customers can request quotes for products tailored to their unique needs directly from the Go Industries website, ensuring an easy and convenient experience for those seeking customized solutions.

The new heavy-duty mud flaps range includes sets specifically designed for dually trucks, which are especially useful for heavy-duty pickups with dual rear wheels. These flaps are more than just a visual upgrade; they provide critical protection to a truck's paint and other vehicles on the road by deflecting debris from the rear tires.

Included in this new range are the Classic Dually Sets, Stainless Steel Dually Sets, Diamond Tread Dually Sets, Dually Flaps & Brackets Only, and Dually Mounting Brackets Only. This wide selection ensures that every truck owner can find the best mud flaps for dually trucks to meet their specific needs.

"We are excited to introduce these new products to our customers," added the representative. "They represent our ongoing efforts to provide high-quality, durable truck accessories that our customers can depend on. We believe these heavy-duty mud flaps will set a new standard in the market."

The heavy duty mud flaps are just one part of Go Industries' extensive product range. The company also produces grille guards, bumper replacements, headache racks, and other truck accessories, all made to the same high standards of quality and durability. This ensures truck owners have a full suite of protection and enhancement accessories available. Interested customers can visit the company's truck accessories page for more details on their offerings.

Beyond truck accessories, Go Industries serves the law enforcement sector with specialized equipment for law enforcement vehicles. This includes skid plates and accessories specifically designed for Chevrolet, Dodge, and Ford vehicles. This variety shows the company's versatility and ability to meet different customer needs.

Go Industries has made it easier for customers to find product information, resources, and place orders through their user-friendly website. The site features a product catalog, warranty details, and instructional videos to help customers. The company is also active on social media platforms like Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, Pinterest, and Instagram, encouraging engagement with customers.

With a long history in the industry, Go Industries continues to uphold its reputation for quality and reliability. Their products, especially the heavy duty mud flaps, are designed to deliver long-lasting protection and performance. Truck owners looking to boost the durability and functionality of their vehicles can explore the wide range of mud flaps and other accessories available on the Go Industries website.

For more information on Go Industries' heavy duty mud flaps, check out the company's mud flaps product page for details. Truck owners seeking the best mud flaps for dually trucks can find the perfect dually mud flap sets there. Those interested in custom manufacturing services can request a quote directly through the custom manufacturing services page.
