Phoenix Contents is a family-owned and operated restoration cleaning company in Denver. They specialize in restoring and cleaning personal and commercial belongings that have been damaged. Unlike other companies that focus solely on fixing buildings, Phoenix Contents takes care of items that people hold dear, like furniture, clothes, and electronics, with great attention to detail.

Phoenix Contents offers a variety of services. These range from cleaning hard items like furniture and antiques to restoring fabric items such as clothing and stuffed animals. They also use advanced techniques to restore electronics. For sensitive jobs like hoarding cleanup, they handle everything with professionalism and care. Additionally, their structural cleaning services address both the structure and contents of a property, aiming to return everything to its original state.

The company is also skilled in dealing with fire damage and smoke odors. They make sure that secondary damage is prevented by promptly cleaning items affected by smoke and soot. After water damage, they act quickly to stop mold from growing and to get rid of musty odors and stains, ensuring that affected items are restored properly. They use photo documentation to capture detailed images of affected areas, which helps guide the restoration process.

They offer secure storage solutions for their clients. Their on-site, barcoded inventory system allows clients to track their belongings online, any time of day. They also provide wildfire restoration services for homes and businesses in Colorado that have been affected by wildfires.

Phoenix Contents' pack-out services are thorough and efficient. Their team carefully documents, packs, and relocates belongings to facilitate a smooth restoration process, allowing structural repairs to start without any delays. They serve a wide variety of clients, from airports and hospitals to residential homes and senior living facilities.

Their approach ensures that cherished belongings are handled with the highest level of care. A customer praised the company saying, "I would definitely recommend Phoenix Contents to anyone in need of professional handling of their belongings. When my parents' basement flooded, we had Phoenix take over the sorting through, packing, and moving of the items so that we could get equipment in and dry the basement out."

Bret Brouillette, a spokesperson for the company, noted, "We understand that property damage is not just about the walls and structure but also the personal and sentimental items that make a house a home. Our team is dedicated to handling every item with utmost care and professionalism, allowing our clients to focus on rebuilding their lives."

Phoenix Contents provides services to a wide range of industries, including airports, college campuses, daycare centers, event centers, hospitals, hotels, housing authorities, libraries, manufacturing facilities, multi-family housing, municipalities, museums, office buildings, residential homes, restaurants, retail outlets, school campuses, and senior living facilities. This makes them a comprehensive solution for restoration cleaning.

Anyone needing these services should contact Phoenix Contents for more information about their specialized solutions. This restoration cleaning company in Denver is known for its careful handling and expert restoration of personal and commercial belongings. Phoenix Contents has earned a reputation as a trusted choice during difficult times.
