

Wood Flooring Wimbledon - The Ultimate Flooring Expands Services to Local Community

July 22, 2024

London, England - July 22, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The Ultimate Flooring Company, which has over 25 years of experience in the flooring industry, is expanding its services to cover the Wimbledon area. This expansion shows the company's commitment to growing its market presence and providing high-quality flooring options to more customers.

The Ultimate Flooring Company offers a wide range of services, including restoration, engineered wood flooring, solid wood flooring, vinyl flooring, laminate flooring, floor sanding, and floor fitting. They also handle both domestic and commercial projects. With a solid reputation built over decades, the company provides a 25-year product guarantee on select items. Their move into Wimbledon means local residents and businesses can now access top-notch wood flooring services right in their area.

"Expanding into the Wimbledon area allows us to bring our expertise and high standards to an even larger customer base," said Shafique Dossa, CEO of The Ultimate Flooring Company. "We've always been dedicated to delivering excellent flooring solutions, and we're excited to offer our services to this vibrant community."

A standout offering from The Ultimate Flooring Company is their restoration service. This service brings old floors back to life, making them look almost new again. Instead of replacing entire floors, customers can choose this more practical and cost-effective option.

Engineered wood flooring is another key feature of their expanded services. This type of flooring is known for its stability and resistance to moisture and heat, making it ideal for various settings. The process involves pressing multiple layers of wood with grains running in different directions, ensuring durability and a high-quality finish.

Solid wood flooring continues to be a mainstay of The Ultimate Flooring Company's offerings. Known for its longevity and strength, solid wood flooring provides a classic look that many homeowners prefer. The company guarantees precise installation, backed by years of expertise.

Vinyl flooring is also a part of the service expansion. Popular for its affordability and variety, vinyl flooring is durable and comes in an extensive range of styles and colors, making it suitable for many interior designs.

The introduction of laminate flooring services adds even more versatility to the company's lineup. Laminate flooring looks like real wood and is easy to install and maintain. This option provides both practical benefits and aesthetic appeal.

"Our expansion reflects our dedication to meeting customer needs and adapting to market demands," Dossa added. "We want to ensure our clients in Wimbledon have access to a full range of high-quality wood flooring options and the expert services we are known for."

Floor sanding and fitting remain crucial services. These ensure that floors are not only installed correctly but also maintained to look their best over time. Sanding removes surface imperfections, preparing floors for finishing touches that boost their beauty and longevity.

Both domestic and commercial clients will benefit from the company's expanded presence in Wimbledon. The Ultimate Flooring Company offers tailored solutions to meet the specific needs of different settings, ensuring satisfaction and high quality in every project.

For homeowners, the domestic flooring services include free site surveys and fee quotations, helping clients make informed decisions about their flooring options. The company is known for its attentive customer service and meticulous attention to detail throughout each project.

In commercial settings, the company's expertise transforms spaces into professional and appealing environments. Their extensive portfolio demonstrates their ability to handle projects of various scales and requirements.

The expansion into the Wimbledon market is a strategic step for The Ultimate Flooring Company, showing their ongoing growth and commitment to customer satisfaction. For more information about their services in Wimbledon and other areas, visit their website.
