Sellersburg, Indiana - September 19, 2024 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Ministry-To-Children is excited to announce the release of new preschool Bible lessons for children aged 3-5. These lessons, now available on their website, are designed to make learning about the Bible enjoyable and engaging for young kids. Founded by Tony Kummer in 2007, the Ministry-To-Children website offers a range of free resources for churches around the globe.

The new preschool Bible lessons on Ministry-To-Children's website cover a variety of materials, including basic Bible stories, activities, and crafts that help reinforce the lessons. These lessons are designed to be user-friendly for teachers and accessible for children. The new resources feature comprehensive lesson plans that include stories about Solomon, Elijah, David, and Jesus.

Tony Kummer, the founder of Ministry-To-Children, shared his thoughts, saying, "We believe that it is important for children to learn about God from a young age. These new preschool Bible lessons will provide teachers with the tools they need to teach children about the Bible in an engaging and accessible way."

The new lessons are part of Ministry-To-Children's ongoing mission to provide free children's ministry resources. These resources include Bible-based activities, coloring pages, and full ministry curriculums. The goal is to support churches and Sunday School programs in creating an environment that fosters learning and spiritual growth.

Jim Smith, a children's pastor who regularly uses Ministry-To-Children's resources, stated, "The new preschool Bible lessons are incredibly helpful. They are well-organized and easy to use. It's great to have access to these free children's ministry resources."

In addition to the new lessons, the Ministry-To-Children website offers a wide range of other free resources. These include kids' worship bulletins, Bible lessons for various age groups, and crafts. Teachers can download these resources in PDF format, making it easy to access and print the materials they need. The website also boasts a full 52-week curriculum for Sunday School, offering educators a structured plan for the entire year.

Parents and educators will find the free Easter coloring pages particularly useful during the holiday season, providing children with a creative way to connect with the story of Easter. These free preschool Sunday school lessons are crafted to help children understand and remember biblical teachings in an enjoyable manner.

Ministry-To-Children's core mission is to help teach children about God's Word, regardless of a church's financial situation. They believe that providing these free children's ministry resources is crucial in supporting churches in their mission to educate young people about faith and Jesus Christ.

To explore these resources, visit Ministry-To-Children's preschool Bible lessons page and check out their free preschool Sunday school lessons. These resources are available for sharing and adaptation under the CC BY-SA 4.0 license, meaning they can be distributed and modified as long as credit is given, and any changes are shared in the same way.

The new preschool Bible lessons are part of Ministry-To-Children's dedication to nurturing spiritually mature believers. The resources from Ministry-To-Children aim to create a safe and effective learning environment for kids in local churches, helping to build a strong foundation in their faith journey. Alongside their lessons, Ministry-To-Children offers a variety of craft activities that align with Bible stories and teachings, providing kids with creative ways to engage with the material.

The Ministry-To-Children website is managed by Tony Kummer and a team of writers deeply involved in children's ministry. The site aims to offer age-appropriate Bible study materials and Sunday school curriculums, helping teachers and parents connect better with children on their spiritual journey. The platform also provides a diverse selection of coloring pages related to Bible stories, which are perfect for keeping children engaged and learning in a creative manner.

Explore the full range of resources provided on the Ministry-To-Children website and take advantage of their comprehensive 52-week curriculum for Sunday school and downloadable kids' Bible lessons in PDF format. The dedicated team at Ministry-To-Children continuously updates and expands their offerings to meet the evolving needs of children's ministry programs worldwide, including special materials like free Easter coloring pages that align with seasonal teachings.
