Miami Dentist Now Offers InMan Orthodontic Aligner, a Great Alternative to Braces

March 08, 2016

March 08, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Carroll Dentistry, a dental practice in North Miami Beach, FL, is proud to announce a new cutting-edge dental procedure, known as the InMan orthodontic aligner. The InMan orthodontic aligner is used for treating misaligned teeth like conventional braces, but in a much shorter time. This is already proving to be very popular procedure, and is one of the many advanced dental services already provided by the practice. More details are available at Carroll Dentistry's website at <http://www.carrolldentistry.com>.

According to Miami Prosthodontist Dr. David Carroll, of Carroll Dentistry: "One of the most exciting developments to come along in dentistry recently is The InMan Orthodontic Aligner. This device resembles an Orthodontic retainer, and it allows for the correction of misaligned anterior teeth in about 12-16 weeks instead of the typically much longer treatment time associated with conventional braces. This rapid result along with the fact that the InMan is removable for the patient has made it extremely popular and easy for patients." Dr. Carroll says that the InMan Orthodontic Aligner is a great option for busy adults that are looking for an alternative to conventional braces.

The practice offers a number of other cosmetic dental services that are equally popular. These include porcelain veneers, teeth whitening, dental bonding, dental implants, and the smile makeover. Through these services, the practice hopes to address a number of common dental issues that people face. Carroll Dentistry believes everyone should have the confidence to smile. "We want our patients to have a beautiful smile and feel better about themselves." More details about the InMan Orthodontic Aligner and other high quality dental services offered by the practice can be found at <http://www.carrolldentistry.com/adult-orthodontics.html>.

At Carroll Dentistry, Dr. Carrol says, patients are always treated like family. "I took my daughter who has a rather unusual situation and could not be more pleased with the results! I was incredibly impressed with his eye for detail and professionalism and never felt that I was receiving less than 100% of his (Dr. Carroll's) attention. Since that time, my entire family is using him for general dentistry as well as the many specialties he provides. His entire office is equally pleasant and professional which is unusual to find at a dental office. I would highly recommend Dr. Carroll," says Karen S. "Dr. David and Maria are an incredible team. When I go to see Dr. David I actually look forward to relaxing while in his chair. I also drive from Ft. Lauderdale to Aventura to your office."

Carroll Dentistry offers a full spectrum of dental services from porcelain veneers to dental implants and even advanced prosthodontic services.
