Carrington Lawn & Landscape has been awarded an Honorable Mention for "Remodeler of the Year" in the category of Residential Landscape Design/Outdoor Living over $250,000. This recognition is part of the awards given by the National Association of the Remodeling Industry (NARI) for their work on the Denison Project. Adding to their accolades, the project also took home the award for "Best Use of Slabs" at the Awards of Excellence Wisconsin/Iowa/Minnesota hosted by Unilock.

The Denison Project showcases the prowess of Carrington Lawn & Landscape in designing and installing landscapes. A well-thought-out outdoor area combines both looks and usefulness. The Denison Project does just that by featuring elements carefully placed to create a welcoming and visually appealing environment. The work was completed in several steps. Initially, foundational planting beds, walls, and a large paver patio were laid out with a roof structure over the kitchen and dining area. The final step added features like an in-ground pool, a paver pool deck, larger landscape beds, and privacy structures.

Founder and President Sean Carrington expressed, "Our team is thrilled to have the Denison Project recognized by both NARI and Unilock. This honor reflects our commitment to delivering customized outdoor spaces that reflect the needs and visions of our clients, all while maintaining practicality and beauty."

The materials used in the project included Unilock SienaEdge wall blocks and Umbriano pavers, chosen for their modern lines and subtle gray gradients. These materials were selected to seamlessly merge modern design with function, focusing on clean lines and geometric shapes. Wood, metal, and composite materials created the overarching structure, all in a cohesive black color to match the home's design.

The project used mostly simple, perennial-heavy plant varieties. These were chosen to emphasize mass and repetition, offering order and structure that aligned with the geometric hardscape. A lighting system matched the home's aesthetic, enabling the use of the space even after the sun sets.

One notable hurdle was syncing the pool's installation with the landscape development. The team at Carrington Lawn & Landscape expertly handled this by carefully planning to seamlessly integrate the pool's edge with the pavers, keeping the structure sound.

Thanks to the exceptional detail and harmonious elements, the Denison Project stands out as a significant achievement. It combines usability with beauty, redefining modern outdoor living. The project boosts the residents' lifestyle and increases property value too.

Carrington added, "The recognition and awards motivate our team to push the boundaries of landscape design and installation, providing innovative and tailored solutions for our clients. We look forward to sharing more of our work in future projects."
