M3 Artificial Grass & Turf Installation has announced that it has now opened a new office in Fort Lauderdale to serve the growing demand of their Broward and Palm beach clients. The company has been serving the Tri-County area from its Miami location in the past but aims to ease the strain by opening its doors in Fort Lauderdale too.

J.C. Mereles, spokesperson for the company, explains, "There are many positive reasons for us to open our doors in Fort Lauderdale since the demand for artificial grass and artificial turf installation is exploding in Broward and Palm Beach counties. This way the company is better positioned to best serve the market while cutting down on costs and commute times. These are now self sustaining markets that are exploding."

Synthetic grass has been very popular in Miami for many years, but the ever growing demand is migrating to its neighboring counties to the north. The rapidly expanding and growing landscape which are the downtown scenes in Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach, have made this trendy demand to compare themselves with the Miami style.

Mereles explains, "it is not only about the artificial grass for sporting arenas or the putting greens that are popular, but the installation of artificial grass on playgrounds, swimming pools, rooftops, balconies, and walls are exploding. Broward and Palm Beach counties are no different."
