Emia Dental, a private dental practice based in Gravesend, Kent, is happy to announce the launch of their new website. The clinic has recently been equipped with the latest state of the art computerized imaging systems: including dental education in all aspects of dentistry, digital x-rays and intra oral camera, and the clinic can now carry out surgical treatments as well as non surgical.

While Emia Dental offers emergency dental care, they also provide other services such as tooth extractions, composite fillings, root canal treatment and regular dental examinations. The experienced team of dentists take each of their client's oral care seriously. They work with clients to ensure that they are fully satisfied and healthy, as well as giving them dental advice and will even work towards creating a dental care plan. The team of talented dentists say, "We offer the greatest care and pride ourselves in our excellent treatments. Our expert dentists will be with you every step on the way to your new sparkling smile."

Not only are they passionate about helping patients with their dental health, they also offer services to improve the aesthetic of one's smile. The treatments include teeth whitening, teeth polishing, customised acrylic dentures and porcelain veneers. With a wide range of services, it would make sense for the Emia

Dental team to launch a website featuring a complete list of all the treatments they offer.

The new website is easy to navigate through. It gives a detailed description of each service as well as a price list for each specific treatment. In addition, the new website allows new clients to make an appointment from the site. The contact form allows customers to write a personalized message to the dentists as well as giving them contact details so they can be contacted as soon as possible. The new contact process makes communication straightforward and the dental team expresses their excitement by stating, "Most clients need more than one appointment as well as ongoing check-ups, so having their contact information with their enquiry makes the follow-up process much more efficient for the staff and means that patients can get the full treatment they deserve." You can now view the full price list on <http://emiadental.co.uk/price-list/>.

As for future plans, Emia Dental says they will continue to provide excellent service and give their clients a reason to smile. Many new opportunities are arising for the dental group, and their brand will surely maintain their superior standards in any way that they can.
