

Water Damage Restoration Company In Portland Becomes Top Rated

February 04, 2016

February 04, 2016 -

Restoration 1 of Portland, a water damage restoration company based in Tigard, OR, has received a wealth of positive reviews, including the reviews on social media. As a result, the company is quickly becoming one of the most popular fire, mold and water damage expert companies in the area. Details about the services offered by the company are available at <http://restoration1ofportland.com/>.

Ty Hines from Restoration 1 of Portland says: "We cannot thank our customers enough for their continued faith and trust in our services. We tend to come to properties where people are going through some real difficulties because their homes were damaged, so it is important for us to show that we are professionals, and that we care as well. To hear that our efforts are appreciated is truly wonderful."

Yelp, where the reviews for the water damage company can be found, is one of the world's most important review platforms. Companies that are listed here do not have any control over the reviews that are posted, making it one of the most reliable platforms of its kind. It is also more accessible to people than sites such as the Better Business Bureau, as it is the individuals who have actually used a service that leave the reviews. Their opinion of Restoration 1 of Portland is clearly a very good one.

"I had to have Restoration 1 come out for a mold issue in my bathroom, and unfortunately not even a week later I had to call them again," says Kristen W. "They made a total nightmare situation better than expected. Both times, they were at my house within an hour. All four of them were extremely friendly and respectful, I have had repair men in my house before that have made me very uncomfortable. I didn't feel that way when any of them were in my home. I would absolutely recommend them to anyone, and if something comes up at the house they will be who I'm calling."

The reviews listed on the company's Facebook page are similar to those on Yelp. Everyone appreciates the company's professional yet emphatic attitude, as well as their flexibility. People are encouraged to like the company's Facebook page for further information.
