eBusiness Masters, a business in Kent, WA, has introduced a new SEO service to businesses in Kirkland, WA. Now, they not only build mobile responsive websites for them, they also ensure these websites are optimized for accelerated mobile page (AMP) implementation. More details are available at <http://www.ebusinessmasters.com/search-engine-optimization/kirkland/>.

Anthony Yap from eBusiness Masters says: "AMP is the latest in online and mobile optimization. It is a joint venture between Google and Twitter that aims to make sure mobile pages load really quickly. This is achieved by stripping down the HTML. Fundamentally, it means it is really lightweight and designed to run fast."

A number of internet giants have now signed up to Google and Twitter's AMP idea. Since then, it has become clear that it was designed as a response to Facebook Instant Articles and Apple News. Facebook and Apple are also designing codes that ensure people can see what they want to see on their mobiles in double time. AMP is completely open source, and it is taking the world by storm.

eBusiness Masters, meanwhile, offers a full service SEO to all clients. More details about the work that they do can be seen at <http://www.ebusinessmasters.com/search-engine-marketing/>. As part of their commitment to always offering their clients the most up to date tools and techniques, they have trained their staff on AMP and have come up with ways to implement it as a solution for all their clients, on top of their regular mobile responsive work.

The company has also released a YouTube channel to further explain the work that they perform, which can be seen at <http://www.youtube.com/c/eBusinessMasters1>. The current videos provide more detail about their various services and how these can benefit their clients. People who have worked with the company have been overwhelmingly positive about their experiences. "Anthony has added unbeatable value to my site," says Shauna Martin. "My online presence is stronger than ever thanks to him."

Businesses looking at becoming mobile responsive and integrating AMP are encouraged to contact the company as soon as possible for a free consultation.
