March 01, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Dr. Jeffrey Schreiber with Baltimore Plastic And Cosmetic Surgery Center has announced a new range of breast augmentation services. Along with tummy tuck in Baltimore MD, the clinic is now providing patients with a variety of breast augmentation procedure options.

"We are pleased to offer the latest in cosmetic procedures," says Dr. Schreiber. "Our list of treatments will now include breast augmentation including breast lifts and reductions."

The clinic will also be providing breast reconstructive surgeries. The Baltimore plastic surgeon has years of experience in all aspects of breast surgery, and gained his training at the Johns Hopkins Hospital as well as the University of Maryland.

He states that breast augmentation is a very common procedure, and this includes the use of silicone and saline implants. He points out that he will spend a considerable amount of time with his patients to determine just what they want to accomplish and to determine the right fit and size for each individual patient.

The Baltimore breast augmentation surgeon will provide reduction as well as enhancement procedures, and the physician states that while each patient is very different, he will spend adequate time determining the right look and fit before any surgical procedure will be done.

The clinic also provides breast reconstruction with implants, tissue expanders, and TRAM and DIEP flaps from the belly area. Dr. Schreiber performs secondary as well as tertiary stages of breast reconstruction such as fat grafting for breast defects and areolar reconstruction.

Patients who have considered breast augmentation, but who are a bit apprehensive can contact Dr. Schreiber for a consultation to determine if enhancement or reduction surgery is a viable option for them. The doctor states that each patient spends time in a consultation going over the various different surgical and non-surgical options when applicable, and that the decision for surgery is only made when the patients feel that it is in their best interest and when the doctor himself feels that the procedure is the best option for meeting his patients' needs. Those interested can learn more about the breast augmentation procedures available on the clinic's official website.
