Govivo, a provider of a number of health and fitness products, has announced that their running belt for large-sized phones and reflective vest have been featured on the blog of the Femme Fitale Fit Club. The club offers information, inspiration, and motivation to women regarding fitness. The blog features articles and insights for women who wish to lead active and healthy lives. A spokesperson for the blog states, "We love fitness and do our part to share information that can help our readers to make informed decisions about living their healthiest life possible."

The running belt from Govivo that is being featured is suitable for large sized phones, like the iPhone 6 Plus. One pocket can be used for the phone to protect it from scratches during running, and the company states that another pocket is suitable for keys, cash, or anything else that needs to be taken along when working out.

A spokesperson for Govivo states, "Our durable buckle delivers the tightest fit possible and gives you stability so there is no bouncing or riding up. It's just the perfect companion for running or any other type of fitness activities." The company states that a reinforced zipper can withstand intensive use, keeping everything safe and that the zipper is near the top of the belt so items are kept away from the skin to avoid irritation and easier to get to and remove.

The vest that is also being featured on the blog offers a number of benefits as well, according to the company. It does not contain Velcro so it helps to protect shirt material and is made for both men and women. It is lightweight and doesn't slip or move around, and offers a front access quick clip feature that makes it easy to put on and adjust for the perfect fit.

The company states that the running belt and the vest can both be purchased online at this time. Govivo is a family owned and operated business. The company offers a wide variety of products, most of which can be found in the Amazon marketplace. More about them and the list of products that they offer can be seen on their official website.
