Yellow Sub Group, a business in Oklahoma City, OK, is proud to announce that they now offer personal development and professional development workshops to clients in the southwest. One of the things addressed during these workshops are the personal attributes that enable someone to interact effectively and harmoniously with other people, commonly known as soft skills. Full details about the workshops can be found on www.yellowsubgroup.com.

Rhonda Boyle, Yellow Sub Group founder, says, "Helping people be the best they can be isn't accomplished through pointing out flaws, as is usually done during performance reviews. Instead, it's done by enabling people to identify their personal strengths and improve on those internal assets."

Yellow Sub Group offers a Strengths 101 introductory course to help people see how improving soft skills can improve their overall life. The organization is based on the in-depth understanding of the personal StrengthsFinder 2.0 assessment and entrepreneur-focused EP10 methodology. They believe, in the words of Albert Einstein, "Everybody is a genius. But if you judge a fish by its ability to climb a tree, it will live its whole life believing that it is stupid." They feel the problem with existing systems of appraisal is that people are measured against unrealistic standards, thereby always making them feel as if they are not good enough.

The company offers workshops for both professional development and personal development, coaching and consulting, all with the aim of providing practical clarity to who you are so you can utilize the strengths that cause you to excel. This enhances productivity, efficiency, and happiness on the job and in life, which then becomes a positive circle, leading to more productivity and so on. Those who have worked with the company have been full of praise about the results. "Not only was this eye opening for me from a business standpoint," says Caitlin D. on the company's website, "but I found it invaluable to help me understand others strengths in my relationships (mainly my husband)."

Those interested in the new professional development and personal development courses offered by Yellow Sub Group can go to www.yellowsubgroup.com. Further details about the courses are included, as well as an easy to use online registration form that will also give you free access to the next workshop, to help you start on your own path to improving soft skills.
