College Station, Texas based PetSupplements.Club has announced the launch of a new pet supplement product onto the Amazon marketplace, which is a probiotic powder designed for dogs. The company states that the supplement is perfect for all breeds of dogs, large or small, and that it works for dogs of all ages.

Sarah Manyame, spokesperson for the company, says, "We're focused on the best products for pet health, and we believe that this probiotic will help your dog stay healthy and fit."

The product comes in a five ounce container, offering 120 scoops of supplement. The company states that each serving provides 2.5 to 15 billion CFUs of probiotic, and that the product is specifically created for dogs. Manyame states that it not only improves digestion, but also aids in remedying diarrhea and constipation, helps to avoid vomiting, and prevents gas, yeast infections, allergies, and various other GI problems that some dog breeds face.

"The probiotic powder for dogs," says Manyame, "is specifically designed to treat and maintain the digestive systems of canines, which makes it much more effective than various other products on the market that are designed for all species of pets."

The company states that the product is designed to work well for dogs of all ages, from puppies to seniors, and that it is easy to mix the proper dosage into food or water. Manyame says that because it offers a hassle free alternative to pills, dogs are much more likely to accept it and benefit from it.

The dietary supplements for dogs are created at a Certified Natural Products Association and Approved Good Manufacturing Practice facility in the United States. The company states that all of their products are produced at certified locations, and that the supplements contain no artificial flavoring, GMOs, dairy, wheat, or fillers.

Petsupplements.Club offers a variety of products, most of which can be seen on the Amazon marketplace,
