

Scottsdale Air Heating & Cooling Announces Scottsdale Lennox AC Rebates

May 06, 2015

May 06, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Scottsdale Air Heating & Cooling, an Arizona based company, has announced the availability of Scottsdale Lennox AC Replacement rebates, which are available through the company website, at <http://www.scottsdaleair.com/rebates-specials/>. The rebate offers consumers who purchase air conditioning units through Scottsdale Air Heating & Cooling, the opportunity for a rebate of up to $1,700. The rebate is also made available for those who have purchased from the Lennox HVAC manufacturing company. The company representatives explain:

"Scottsdale Air Heating & Cooling has been providing Scottsdale residents & businesses with year-round Scottsdale air conditioning services for more than 65 years. If you're experiencing any sort of air conditioning problem, no matter how big or small, you'll want a trustworthy, professional company that you can contact for a service call."

The Scottsdale Lennox AC rebates are available until June 12, 2015, and the company is also promoting their options for financing for those individuals in the Scottsdale area who require financial assistance for the purchase of a new unit and its installation. This assistance is supplied through Wells Fargo or Service

Finance Company and consumers can quickly apply with a one click method that leads to an online application form.

Visiting the rebates and specials page at Scottsdale Air Heating & Cooling at <http://www.scottsdaleair.com/rebates-specials/> also supplies consumers with the ability to view all of the other offers being supplied by the company at this time. Currently, there are a number of specials outside of the $1,700 rebate, including a pre-season special on air conditioner tune ups and additional rebates on cooling and heating systems for the Spring and Summer season.

The latest rebate for air conditioning units being offered by the company is meant to assist consumers in replacing old units which may need more repair than is financially viable, or in the purchase of a unit for customers who may not have owned one previously. They have suggested that the weather in Arizona makes it uncomfortable at times for those who don't own air conditioners, and that this rebate will allow new and existing customers to get the relief needed without overspending.

Those who are not yet familiar with Scottsdale Air Heating & Cooling can view customer testimonials on the company website, offering some further insight into consumers who have been happy with services in the past. They also supply an informative blog for those who wish to invest in DIY opportunities, or who want to learn more about what the company does, and how they can help through a number of services in their clients' homes.

Aside from the cooling and heating options offered by the company, they also specialize in air duct sealing and other HVAC products, and have encouraged those who are new to their services to read more about each option on their site.
