Los Angeles, CA ? Pearl Distributors, a Los Angeles-based fine pearl jewelry purveyor that has expanded from Akoya Pearls to include the finest in superior quality AAA Freshwater Pearl Jewelry, Tahitian Pearls with their stunning array of colors, and the amazing exquisite South Sea Pearls, this year won their next consecutive Spectrum Award for Excellence in Customer Service.

Since its inception in 2004 Pearl Distributors has made it their mission to provide infallible customer service for their worldwide clientele.

The winners every year are selected after extensive research by City Beat News (CBN), an independent research and publishing company that strives to provide a voice to the consumer about those unheralded small businesses that deliver exceptional service and experiences.

?We have won this award for many consecutive years now due to our unwavering commitment to our customers," said Miriam Reed, Owner of Pearl Distributors. "Without them, we'd have no business, so it's important to us that each customer gets the quality of pearl jewelry they want and the service they deserve. We thank CBN for recognizing our dedication to stellar customer service in 2016 and beyond."

CBN seeks out, rates and recognizes companies that are the hidden gems of the Los Angeles communities. In the process, they work tirelessly to remove the bias normally inherent in award-distribution processes.

Pearl Distributors proudly contains one of the largest selections of Pearl Jewelry sold on the Internet with a multitude of options, sizes, colors and designs. They select, drill and string their Pearl Jewelry themselves in the U.S. (instead of South East Asia) in order to have first hand control over the finished quality.

The company ships pearl jewelry to customers the world over.
