

Premier Awnings and Rollscreens Expands Service Area to Cover All of St. Johns County FL

August 11, 2026

ST. AUGUSTINE, FL - August 11, 2026 -

Premier Awnings and Rollscreens has expanded its service area to include the entirety of St. Johns County, Florida, extending its outdoor living installations to a broader base of residential and commercial property owners across the region.

The expansion applies to the full range of services already offered by the company, including retractable screens installation, retractable awnings installation, and commercial screens installation. Property owners throughout the county now have access to the same installations previously concentrated in and around the company's home base. No changes have been made to the services themselves, only to the geographic area in which they are available.

Retractable screen offerings include Lanai Screens, Privacy Screens, Garage Door Bug Screens, Recessed Screens, Balcony Shades, and Interior Window Shades. These products are designed to expand usable living space, keep insects out, allow airflow, and reduce exposure to ultraviolet rays. The retractable awnings provide shade and protection from the elements and can be withdrawn when not in use, while commercial screens serve businesses seeking shade, privacy, and weather protection for outdoor areas.

Premier Awnings and Rollscreens of St. Augustine, FL cited steady demand from surrounding communities as the reason for widening its coverage. As residential development continues across the county and interest in shaded outdoor spaces grows, the company determined that a larger service area would allow it to reach households and businesses that previously fell outside its range.

"The decision to expand across St. Johns County came directly from the requests reaching us from neighboring communities," said Michael Bartholomew of Premier Awnings and Rollscreens. "Families and business owners throughout the region want to make better use of their outdoor spaces, and it no longer made sense to limit where the crews could travel. Covering the full county allows the team to serve people who have been asking for these installations for some time."

The Florida climate places a premium on shade and airflow, and the company's motorized awnings have been shown to lower patio temperatures by a meaningful degree. Bartholomew noted that this factor has driven interest from both homeowners and operators of alfresco dining spaces.

"Shade changes how people use their patios and porches, especially during the warmer months," Bartholomew said. "A retractable awning or screen can turn an unused corner of a property into a comfortable space. Making these installations available countywide means more residents and businesses can take advantage of that."

The Premier Awnings and Rollscreens professionals will continue to provide free estimates for projects within the newly expanded coverage area. The company reports that the transition has already begun, with scheduling now open to customers in previously unserved parts of the county.

Premier Awnings and Rollscreens is based in Saint Augustine, FL, and specializes in solutions for outdoor living spaces. The company installs retractable screens, retractable awnings, and commercial screens for both residential and commercial clients. Its product line addresses shade, privacy, insect control, and protection from the elements, with an emphasis on customer service and professional installation throughout St. Johns County.
