May 18, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Search One Inc., a healthcare recruitment agency in Clearwater, FL, is currently recruiting nurses in Florida for home health, hospice, and mental health facilities. The company is able to provide assistance to healthcare companies across the country. The company has been in business for over 40 years, during which time they have established themselves as the go-to source for all healthcare recruitment.

Bill Pedrey from Search One Inc. says: "Healthcare recruiting is a very specific field of recruitment. Nurses and other health care professionals have to meet the high standards in terms of their training and licensing requirements. This is even more true now that the Affordable Care Act has been implemented. Sifting through applications is something that most health care facilities simply do not have time for, but we are there to help them with this work. We encourage all registered nurses to contact us as soon as possible, as we have quite a number of positions available."

The company has listed current available openings. This page is updated regularly, meaning that any new jobs are added as soon as they become available. As such, nurses are advised to bookmark the page or set up an RSS or email alert, so that they don't miss any applicable vacancies. They are also requested to use the Contact Us page in order to register their personal details, so that they can be contacted when a suitable position becomes available.

Those who have worked with Search One have been incredibly pleased with the service they have received. "Search One is simply awesome," says Chip C. on the company's website. "I have worked with Bill and his team now for several years. Bill has always kept his word, saving me many hours of recruitment time. His professionalism is greatly appreciated. By the way, their response time is amazing."

Prospective nurses are encouraged to keep an eye on the current openings that are available on the website. Additionally, if they feel they are the right candidate for any of the positions, they are requested to put their details forward as soon as possible.
