

HHI Windows And Doors Announces Limited-Time PGT Products Discounts

August 07, 2026

BLUFFTON, SC - August 07, 2026 -

HHI Windows and Doors today announced a limited-time promotion offering a 15 percent reduction on materials for all PGT Custom Windows and Doors products for contracts signed through August 31.

The initiative is part of the company's ongoing efforts to support Lowcountry homeowners in upgrading their properties with impact-rated windows and doors.

PGT Custom Windows and Doors is known for impact-resistant products designed for everyday use and unexpected events, with a long-standing focus on safety, performance, and innovation. The promotion at HHI Windows and Doors applies to the range of PGT products available through the company. It covers materials used in window and door replacement projects for qualifying contracts.

The promotion does not extend to Capstone products and is limited to materials within approved PGT lines.

PGT's WinGuard collections, including WinGuard Vinyl and WinGuard Aluminum, are noted for combining impact-resistant laminated glass with engineered frames to offer hurricane protection, security benefits, and energy performance options. WinGuard Vinyl windows and doors are available in folding, sliding, and patio configurations and are offered with ENERGY STAR-rated options that support long-term energy efficiency.

HHI Windows and Doors reports that many customers are seeking replacement solutions that address energy performance and comfort. PGT products are designed to optimize energy efficiency through options such as advanced coatings, insulating glass, and vinyl framing systems that may contribute to reduced cooling loads over time. The company views the PGT-focused promotion as an opportunity for homeowners to pursue upgrades that aim to improve both resilience and daily living conditions.

In recent years, Lowcountry homeowners have faced evolving building codes and insurance requirements that place added attention on the condition and specifications of windows and doors. HHI Windows and Doors notes that these developments have contributed to a steady increase in inquiries related to replacement projects, particularly in neighborhoods with older housing stock or previous-generation products.

Noise reduction and indoor comfort have also become more prominent considerations in local replacement projects. PGT's impact-resistant laminated glass is engineered to help reduce common outdoor sounds, including lawn equipment, traffic, and storm-related noise, supporting a quieter indoor environment.

HHI Windows and Doors works with homeowners to review product choices that take these factors into account. The August promotion is structured so that qualifying PGT materials within selected configurations are included in the 15 percent discount. This approach allows customers to weigh aesthetic and performance priorities.

Serving Hilton Head Island, Bluffton, and nearby areas, HHI Windows and Doors has concentrated its work on window and door replacement projects for residential properties. The firm reports that homeowners are increasingly examining the long-term performance of their building envelope as storms and high-wind events remain a recurring concern in the region.

The company has established a presence as a provider of window and door replacement services, focusing on residential properties that must contend with coastal weather conditions throughout the year. Its projects range from single-opening replacements to comprehensive, whole-home upgrades that address multiple elevations and exposures.

Homeowners and property managers who wish to determine whether a planned window or door replacement project qualifies for the 15 percent materials discount on PGT products are encouraged to contact HHI Windows and Doors during the promotional period.
