Since the release of the Cosmopolitan Collection?s Cosmetic Organizer and Makeup Storage system, the company has revealed that demand has increased. With increased demand for the cosmetic organizer, the Cosmopolitan Collection has officially announced that they plan to make changes in their production and distribution processes. The clear acrylic makeup organizer is intended for the storage of unorganized cosmetics. Featuring transparent acrylic for easy washing, the cosmetic organizer is well-suited for women and men alike.

The transparent acrylic organizer is made via an injection molding process and supports 4 drawers. Two drawers on top are present with (depth by length by width) dimensions 1? by 4? by 4? and two on the bottom with dimensions 1? by 4? by 8?. The organizer also features twelve small slots used for lipstick and other small cosmetic storage. However, the cosmetic organizer from Cosmopolitan Collection also sports a strong and transparent design, using transparent acrylic. While a very sturdy material, the injection molded acrylic is likewise a very modern and visually appealing composite, making it a great addition to rooms with a modern interior design.

The Cosmopolitan Collection will have to increase their production to keep up with demands. While the Cosmopolitan Collection professes in their Mission Statement that they are dedicated to the world's finest customer service, the company revealed that they cannot produce at the desired demand without making changes first. Still bearing a 100% Satisfaction Money Back Guarantee, the cosmetic organizer is still available for amazon prime free shipping.

Customers can expect to see production increases within several months; however, they could take effect as early as within one week. Suited primarily for men and women who want to organize their beauty products, the Cosmopolitan Collection Cosmetic Organizer and Makeup Storage comes in a 3.6-pound package. It is available now on Amazon.com for $36.99 with free shipping on orders over $49.00.
