

Blue Wash Cleaning Launches New Website to Streamline Booking for Home Cleaning Services in Nassau County

August 12, 2026

INWOOD, NY - August 12, 2026 -

Blue Wash Cleaning has launched a new website, bluewashcleaning.com, giving residents and businesses across Long Island a simpler way to schedule residential and commercial cleaning appointments. The digital platform reflects a healthcare-inspired approach to property maintenance and centralizes booking, service details, and local cleaning community updates in one accessible location.

The company was founded in 2025 by David, a full-time nurse who recognized the connection between clean, orderly environments and reduced stress, improved health, and overall well-being. That clinical perspective now shapes the online experience, where visitors can quickly move from a chaotic to-do list to a scheduled service without the friction that often accompanies booking a household task. By reducing the steps required to arrange a cleaning, the platform extends the founder's philosophy of easing the mental load that busy families and professionals carry.

The website allows clients to explore core offerings in detail, from kitchen degreasing and deep cleaning to move-in and move-out resets and commercial office sanitization. Each service is described so property owners can identify the right option and hand off the physical burden of upkeep. Recurring maintenance plans are presented alongside their loyalty incentives, including 20 percent off weekly service, 15 percent off bi-weekly service, and 10 percent off monthly plans.

The straightforward, transparent design mirrors the company's operational standards, which emphasize precision, reliability, and consistent communication with every customer. Visitors can review the company's credentials directly on the site, including its bilingual English and Spanish team and full insurance coverage through Hiscox. Direct links to customer support and social media channels are also provided.

"The website was built to remove obstacles between a person and a clean home," said a spokesperson for Blue Wash Cleaning. "A nurse's training teaches that order and cleanliness support health and lower stress, and the goal was to make that standard easy to access with a few clicks rather than a series of phone calls."

The platform outlines the company's dedicated service radius, operating from its Nassau County cleaning headquarters at 18 Madison Ave and prioritizing communities that include Valley Stream, Long Beach, Rockville Centre, Lynbrook, and Oceanside. The company remains equipped to travel up to 15 miles beyond the county line to accommodate additional requests.

"Consistency and respect for each property set reliable service apart from the rest of the market," the spokesperson added. "The new site reflects that mandate by presenting clear information, transparent pricing, and a booking process that treats every customer's time as valuable."

Blue Wash Cleaning is a locally owned residential and office cleaning company serving Nassau County and surrounding areas of Long Island. Its services include home cleaning, recurring cleaning, deep cleaning, move-in and move-out cleaning, kitchen cleaning, and commercial cleaning. The company operates with a bilingual team, maintains full insurance through Hiscox, and follows transparent pricing with no hidden fees.
