

LimoFi Opens Hourly Limo Service in Las Vegas, NV for Multi-Stop Strip Nights

August 10, 2026

LAS VEGAS, NV - August 10, 2026 -

The Las Vegas, NV chauffeur company books multi-stop resort, dining, and show itineraries at a set hourly price.

LimoFi, a chauffeured limo service in Las Vegas, NV, has opened hourly bookings for travel along the Las Vegas Strip and the surrounding resort corridor. The service covers multi-stop evenings at a set hourly rate confirmed before pickup.

Under the hourly format, one chauffeur and one vehicle stay with the group for the full reservation. Riders keep the same car through dinner, a show, and a late return instead of booking each leg on its own. LimoFi confirms the rate when the reservation is made.

Multi-stop evenings are common on the Strip, where dinner, a show, and a late drink can sit at three different resorts spread across a corridor that runs several miles. Hourly booking removes the wait for a new car at each stop. It also removes the walk from a resort entrance to a separate rideshare staging area, which at several properties sits on an upper parking level.

Visitor volume keeps that corridor busy through most of the calendar. Harry Reid International Airport served 54,989,185 passengers in 2025, the third-highest annual total in the airport's history, according to figures released by the Clark County Department of Aviation in January 2026. Arrivals cluster on Thursday and Friday afternoons, and departures cluster on Sunday mornings.

Set hourly pricing also gives a group its cost before the night starts. On-demand fares in Las Vegas, NV rise during convention weeks and in the hour after large events let out, when many riders request cars at the same time. An hourly reservation carries the rate agreed at booking through those windows.

Hourly trips are scheduled with a start time and a pickup point. LimoFi holds the vehicle between stops, so riders return to the same chauffeur instead of requesting another car at each address. Groups traveling together stay in one vehicle rather than splitting across two or three cars that arrive at different times.

"Groups on the Strip rarely stop at one place. The hourly booking keeps the same chauffeur and the same vehicle for the whole night, which means luggage, coats, and shopping bags stay in the car between stops," said the owner of LimoFi.

Hourly reservations seat up to seven passengers in executive SUVs. Bookings include corporate groups, wedding parties, and attendees moving between the Las Vegas Convention Center and Strip resorts during trade show weeks. LimoFi runs the same chauffeured service to Harry Reid International Airport and dispatches from its office in Las Vegas, NV.

"A group that books by the hour knows the number before the first stop. That matters most on nights built around a fixed show time, because the schedule holds even when the sidewalk in front of the resort does not," added the owner.

Hourly Strip service is open now for same-day and advance reservations. Vehicle options, seating capacity, and booking details are posted on LimoFi limo service in Las Vegas, NV, and riders can get directions to the LimoFi office before a pickup.
