

Quality Pro Painting Expands Decorative Finish Offerings With Lime Washing Service

September 18, 2026 -

Quality Pro Painting, a licensed and insured painting contractor serving Northwest Arkansas, has formally expanded its decorative finish services to feature lime washing, a natural mineral treatment that brings texture and depth to interior walls. The expansion reflects growing interest in handcrafted, old-world wall treatments among both residential and commercial property owners.

Quality Pro Painting Lime washing uses a breathable mineral finish that creates soft, textured movement across walls. The application adds warmth and dimension while producing an old-world, handcrafted appearance that differs from standard flat paint. Because the finish is breathable, it allows walls to release moisture naturally, a characteristic that has long been associated with traditional lime-based materials.

The lime washing service is part of a broader decorative finish program at the company. The expanded lineup also includes white washing, a diluted white tint that brightens surfaces while preserving natural grain and texture, and Venetian glaze, a translucent, layered finish with subtle luminosity. Additional options include

Venetian plaster, a polished lime-based finish that mimics natural stone with a marble-like surface, and mineral paint, a durable, breathable coating made from mineral pigments that yields a matte, earthy result.

Obed Posadas, owner of Quality Pro Painting, said the addition responds to a shift in how clients approach interior design. "Decorative finishes like lime washing give a room character that flat paint cannot replicate," Posadas said. "Homeowners and business owners are looking for surfaces with texture and history, and these mineral-based treatments deliver that depth while remaining durable and breathable."

Established in 2014, the company brings more than 15 years of combined industry experience to each project. Its team of trained professionals handles residential and commercial work across interior painting, exterior painting, and deck and fence painting or staining. The addition of specialized decorative finishes extends that scope to include treatments that require particular skill in layering and application.

Posadas noted that the technical demands of these finishes shaped the company's approach to training and scheduling. "Each of these applications requires patience and attention to detail," Posadas said. "The team focuses on on-time completion and clear communication at every stage, so clients understand what each finish involves before the work begins."

Lime washing and the accompanying decorative treatments are applied by trained crew members rather than subcontractors, a practice the company maintains across its service lines. Quality Pro Painting provides estimates based on actual measurements and stands behind its work with a warranty on completed projects.
