

HHI Windows and Doors Showcases New aboutGOLF Simulator at Bluffton Event Space

August 13, 2026

BLUFFTON, SC - August 13, 2026 -

HHI Windows and Doors is expanding the use of its 11,000-square-foot Bluffton showroom as a community and industry event venue centered around its permanently installed aboutGOLF Curve simulator.

The Curve simulator took center stage during a July 23, 2026, gathering hosted for members of the Hilton Head Area Home Builders Association and local South Carolina legislators. Attendees gathered for an evening of BBQ, bourbon tasting, and interactive gameplay, including aboutGOLF's Golf ?N? Skeet game, giving the industry gathering an engaging, hands-on atmosphere that encouraged casual networking.

By integrating high-tech recreation alongside full-size window and door displays, HHI Windows and Doors aims to offer an inviting, low-pressure environment where local homeowners, trade professionals, and public officials can connect beyond a traditional retail sales environment.

Rather than operating strictly as a space for consultations and product displays, the Bluffton facility is also being used as a venue for regional events. The spacious facility gives local stakeholders a unique setting to build working relationships while exploring custom building solutions.

In addition to the interactive simulator setup, the showroom features a fully equipped conference room where homeowners, builders, architects, and design professionals can collaborate directly with the HHI team. This dedicated room provides a focused setting for reviewing architectural drawings, project specifications, budgets, and installation timelines.

Homeowners and industry guests visiting the showroom can walk through full-size, operational window and door installations. Rather than relying on small samples, visitors can interact with working models to evaluate frame materials, glass packages, energy-efficiency ratings, and custom hardware configurations side by side.

The aboutGOLF simulator adds another interactive element to the showroom experience. During community and industry gatherings, it gives guests an activity they can enjoy while meeting other attendees and learning more about HHI Windows and Doors. Its permanent installation also allows the company to incorporate golf into future showroom events when appropriate, creating additional opportunities for customers, building professionals, and community representatives to connect in a relaxed setting.

The combination of interactive recreation, working product displays, and dedicated meeting space allows the showroom to serve several purposes. Visitors can examine window and door options, ask questions about their projects, and speak directly with the HHI Windows and Doors team. Builders, architects, and design professionals can also use the space to discuss project requirements and compare available products. This approach supports more informative conversations while giving guests time to become familiar with the company, its products, and the people responsible for completing each installation.

HHI Windows and Doors provides residential and commercial property owners with window replacement, door replacement, and professional installation services. Guided by craftsmanship and long-term customer care, the company's core offerings focus on enhancing home security, structural durability, interior comfort, and overall energy performance.

The company offers products for coastal properties, including impact-resistant glass, durable frame systems, custom entryways, and hurricane-rated patio door systems.

While the Bluffton showroom acts as a central hub, HHI Windows and Doors actively serves homeowners and builders across Bluffton, Hilton Head Island, Beaufort, Okatie, Ridgeland, Hardeeville, and surrounding communities in Jasper and Beaufort counties, with an expanding service footprint across South Carolina and Georgia.
