

Temple Stone LLC Announces Exclusive New Line of Marble and Granite Slabs

August 13, 2026

August 13, 2026 -

Temple Stone LLC has announced the launch of an expanded collection of marble and granite slabs serving residential and commercial projects in the Fort Myers area, broadening the material options available to architects, builders, designers, contractors, and homeowners.

The collection responds to continued interest in natural stone for kitchens, bathrooms, commercial interiors, and other architectural applications. Marble and granite remain widely used for their durability, distinctive patterns, and ability to complement a range of interior and architectural styles.

Temple Stone LLC's expanded selection of marble and granite slabs in Ft Myers, FL includes a variety of colors, patterns, and finishes. The company said the collection was curated to reflect current design preferences while providing options for projects with different aesthetic and functional requirements.

The launch follows a broader industry trend toward incorporating natural materials into residential and commercial design. Stone surfaces can provide long-term performance while contributing a distinctive visual element to spaces, making material selection an important consideration during construction and renovation projects.

Temple Stone LLC also provides product guidance to customers evaluating stone for specific applications. Its team assists with comparing available materials and considering factors such as appearance, durability, finish, and project requirements.

The company's expanded presence in the Fort Myers market is intended to give local construction and design professionals greater access to natural stone materials. Local sourcing can also simplify coordination during projects by reducing the need to obtain materials from outside the area.

Temple Stone LLC has also highlighted responsible sourcing and waste reduction as part of its approach to stone distribution. The company said these practices are intended to support more sustainable approaches to construction and design while maintaining material quality.

With the expanded collection, Temple Stone LLC is positioning its marble and granite slabs in Ft Myers, FL as an additional resource for residential renovations, commercial developments, and architectural projects throughout the region.

For additional information about the collection, customers can contact Temple Stone LLC directly or visit the company's official website.
