

Organic Toy Food Set Discount Ending Soon

May 23, 2016

May 23, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

The recently introduced Organic Choices Pretend Toy Food set from Her Pow has been promotionally discounted and is now available for $23.91, but this savings opportunity will end Sunday, June 5th of 2016. After then, it will return to the original price of $49.99 per set. Customers will still be able to save with free shipping on orders over $49. The 125-piece toy food set features miniature plastic toy foods and related items with custom labels.

Kids can engage in hours of play, to learn and boost their imagination. The toy food set includes a full six-slice pizza, ice cream, hamburgers, hot dogs, and French fries and bread. Red and green apples plus asparagus, bananas, carrots, eggs, watermelon, broccoli, cauliflower, and a whole chicken are included as toy foods. Children can pretend snack on crackers and cherry pie as well. All four food groups are included. Juice cartons and condiments are added to complete the set and give kids something to with which to pretend.

Pieces come with labels featuring fun food facts, which are educational and pertain to organic and healthy foods. They can be put together with other kitchen play sets, allowing for hours of fun. Attempting to eat the toy food pieces is not recommended and can break teeth.

A great gift for small children, the product, has been used in preschools and doctors' offices. It ships in a 1.9 pound package. Organic Choices Pretend Toy Food can currently be purchased for $23.91 per set on Amazon, with free shipping on orders over $49. The discount is set to end June 5th, 2016.
