

Beartooth Fencing LLC Expands Fencing and Ranch Construction Services Across the Columbus, MT Region

August 20, 2026

COLUMBUS, MT - August 20, 2026 -

Beartooth Fencing LLC, a licensed and insured fence contractor based in Columbus, Montana, has confirmed that it provides fencing and ranch construction services to properties within a 50-mile radius of the Columbus area. The expanded service coverage brings the company's fencing, gate, and structural construction work to ranchers, equestrian property owners, and rural landowners throughout the Beartooth Region.

The company specializes in building fences and ranch structures engineered to withstand harsh Montana conditions, including wind, snow, and rocky terrain. Its range of work includes barbed wire fencing built to Montana rangeland standards, post and rail fencing, no-dig jack leg fencing suited to rocky ground, working corrals, horse-rated equine fencing, and tall game fencing designed to manage wildlife movement.

Beyond traditional fence lines, Beartooth Fencing LLC offers Custom Archways constructed to individual property owner designs, providing distinctive entrance features for ranches and estates. The company also handles Custom Gates Installation, including automated openers, keypads, and remote access systems intended for both function and property security.

"Ranch properties in this region face conditions that demand durable, well-planned construction," said Brandon Garoutte, owner of Beartooth Fencing LLC. "Serving a 50-mile area around Columbus allows the company to reach landowners who need fencing and structures built for the realities of Montana ground and weather."

The company's services extend to full equestrian facility design, covering property planning for arenas, paddocks, barns, and fence layouts. Additional offerings include pole barn construction for storage, shops, and equipment, as well as livestock shelter builds such as run-in sheds and loafing shelters that protect animals during severe seasonal weather. The company also provides licensed general contracting for a variety of ranch and property projects.

Seasonal timing plays a role in much of this work. Livestock shelter and fencing projects are often scheduled ahead of winter, when access to open ground becomes limited and animals require additional protection from the elements. The company has noted that late summer and fall provide a practical window for property owners planning shelter and fencing improvements before the colder months arrive.

"Each property is different, and the planning matters as much as the build," Garoutte said. "Whether the project is a working corral, an automated gate, or custom archways for entrances, the goal is construction that holds up over time and serves the property owner's daily needs."

Beartooth Fencing LLC serves Columbus and the surrounding Beartooth Region, offering on-site estimates for prospective projects. The company works with private landowners, ranch operators, and equestrian facilities across its service area.

Beartooth Fencing LLC is a licensed and insured fencing and construction company located in Columbus, Montana. The company builds a full range of agricultural and residential fencing, including barbed wire, post and rail, jack leg, corrals, equine, and game fence systems. It also provides custom gates and automation, custom entrance archways, equestrian facility design, pole barns, livestock shelters, and general construction services throughout Columbus and the broader Beartooth Region.
