

NextDAY Cabinets Highlights Six-Showroom Network Serving Trade Professionals Across Multiple Locations

August 20, 2026

CHANTILLY, VA - August 20, 2026 -

NextDAY Cabinets has outlined the scope of its six-showroom network, emphasizing how each location provides contractors, builders, remodelers, cabinet dealers, and designers with local access to cabinetry, product selection, and design support across Virginia, Maryland, and the greater Chicago market.

The company operates showrooms in Chantilly, Alexandria, Woodbridge, and Richmond in Virginia, along with a Maryland location in Beltsville and a Chicago-area location serving the Midwest. This geographic footprint positions the distributor to supply trade professionals working across a range of regional markets.

As a trade-focused cabinet supplier, NextDAY Cabinets works primarily with construction and design professionals rather than positioning itself as a direct-to-homeowner remodeling company. Each showroom functions as a working resource where contractors and dealers can review products, coordinate orders, and access support for kitchen and bath projects.

The distributor carries cabinetry from multiple manufacturers, including Shiloh Cabinetry, Waypoint Cabinets, Marsh Furniture, Forevermark Cabinets, Golden Home, Wolf Home Products, Mantra Cabinets, and Lineadecor. In addition to cabinets, the company offers closet solutions, a custom paint program, bathroom products, flooring, and kitchen accessories, giving trade professionals a range of product options within a single supplier relationship.

The NextDAY Cabinets locations are structured to support efficient fulfillment, with both pickup and delivery options available to professionals managing project timelines. Design support is also part of the showroom experience, allowing contractors and designers to plan cabinetry layouts for kitchen and bathroom projects.

"The showroom network exists to put products, design support, and fulfillment options within reach of the professionals who rely on them," said a representative from NextDAY Cabinets. "Having locations distributed across Virginia, Maryland, and the Chicago area means contractors and dealers can source cabinetry closer to the projects they are managing."

The Chantilly cabinet showroom serves as one of the company's primary locations in Northern Virginia, providing regional contractors and builders with access to inventory, product displays, and staff familiar with the needs of the trade.

The company noted that maintaining multiple showrooms allows it to serve distinct regional markets while offering consistent access to the same brands and product categories. This approach supports contractors who work across more than one geographic area and require dependable sourcing.

"Trade professionals operate on timelines that leave little room for uncertainty," the representative added. "The combination of local showrooms, multiple brand options, and flexible pickup and delivery is intended to help those professionals keep projects moving."

Each location provides a point of contact for builders, remodelers, and designers seeking cabinetry and related products for residential and commercial work. Professionals interested in exploring the product lines and services are encouraged to visit a nearby showroom.

NextDAY Cabinets is a distributor of all-wood kitchen cabinets and vanities serving contractors, builders, remodelers, cabinet dealers, and designers. The company supplies cabinetry from a range of manufacturers and offers related products including closets, bathroom items, flooring, and accessories. It operates showrooms in Chantilly, Alexandria, Woodbridge, and Richmond in Virginia, Beltsville in Maryland, and the greater Chicago market.
