

Nickles Dental Announces Expansion for Dentist New Patients

August 21, 2026

August 21, 2026 -

Nickles Dental Oral Surgery and Family Dentistry has announced an expansion of its practice to welcome new patients in Greenville, SC. The practice provides a combination of oral surgery and family dentistry services and is making changes intended to accommodate additional patients from the local community.

Located in Greenville, the practice provides dental care for patients with a range of general and oral surgery needs. Services include routine cleanings, preventive care, consultations, and oral surgery procedures. The practice is led by Dr. Emily Nickles, who oversees the delivery of dental services and patient care.

The expansion is focused on making the practice more accessible to individuals and families seeking dental care. As part of this effort, the practice has streamlined its new-patient process and updated its appointment scheduling procedures. These changes are intended to make it easier for prospective patients to begin care and understand the steps involved in establishing a dental relationship with the practice.

For patients searching for dentist new patients in Greenville, SC, the expansion provides another option for accessing general dentistry and oral surgery services within the local community. The practice's range of services allows patients to address routine dental needs as well as conditions that may require more specialized treatment.

The practice also places an emphasis on patient education as part of its approach to dental care. Consultations may include discussions about a patient's dental health, treatment needs, and available options. Providing patients with information about their oral health can help them better understand recommended care and the importance of preventive dental practices.

Advancements in dental technology continue to influence how dental professionals evaluate and treat patients. Digital imaging and other modern diagnostic and treatment technologies are increasingly used throughout the dental industry to assist with evaluations and procedures. Nickles Dental Oral Surgery and Family Dentistry incorporates available technology into its clinical services as appropriate for individual patient needs.

The practice's combination of family dentistry and oral surgery also allows it to address different stages and types of dental care. Preventive services can support routine oral health maintenance, while consultations and surgical services may be appropriate for patients with more complex dental concerns. Treatment recommendations are based on the patient's individual circumstances and dental needs.

Dr. Nickles said the practice's expansion provides an opportunity to serve additional families in the Greenville area while continuing to emphasize education and preventive care.

"We are excited to extend our services to new patients and families in Greenville. Our mission is to provide not just treatment, but thorough education and preventive strategies that help our patients maintain lifelong dental health," said Dr. Nickles.

The practice is also focused on helping patients who may have postponed dental visits. Concerns about treatment, scheduling, or the cost of care can affect when individuals seek dental services. By providing information about available services and appointment processes, the practice aims to help prospective patients better understand their options for receiving care.

For individuals and families looking for dentist new patients in Greenville, SC, Nickles Dental Oral Surgery and Family Dentistry is accepting new patients as part of the practice's expansion. Prospective patients can contact the practice directly or visit its official website for additional information about services and appointment scheduling.

The expansion reflects the practice's ongoing efforts to serve the Greenville community through a combination of family dentistry, preventive care, and oral surgery services. As the practice welcomes additional patients, its focus remains on providing dental care and information based on individual patient needs.
