

S & J Printing Launches Redesigned Website for Custom T-Shirt Shop Customers

September 04, 2026

ORANGE PARK, FL - September 04, 2026 -

S & J Printing has launched a redesigned website intended to better serve local businesses, community organizations and sports teams across Clay and Duval Counties in Northeast Florida. The updated site introduces a more streamlined ordering experience and supports faster turnaround times for screen printing and custom apparel projects.

The screen printing company, based in Orange Park, undertook the redesign in response to growing demand from area schools, small businesses and athletic groups that rely on printed apparel for events, fundraisers and team uniforms. The new S & J Printing website organizes services more clearly and reduces the number of steps required to submit a design and place an order.

S & J Printing of Clay County provides custom screen printed t-shirts along with a range of additional printing services, including personal marketing products, business forms, trade show materials, outdoor marketing signage and canvas wraps. The company works directly with clients to translate their concepts into finished products, offering fabric options that range from standard cotton to moisture-wicking performance material.

Jeff Fravala of S & J Printing of Clay County, FL, said the redesign reflects the changing needs of local customers who often work on tight timelines.

"Local teams and organizations frequently come to us with a deadline in mind, and the previous site made ordering more complicated than it needed to be," Fravala said. "The redesigned website was built to simplify that process and to help customers move from an idea to a finished order with fewer delays."

The streamlined layout is a central feature of the update. The company reports that clearer navigation and a more direct ordering path are designed to reduce back-and-forth communication, which in turn supports the faster turnaround times the company aims to deliver. The changes are intended to benefit both first-time customers and repeat clients placing recurring orders throughout the year.

As a local screen printing provider, S & J Printing serves communities throughout Northeast Florida, with particular focus on Clay and Duval Counties. The company has positioned its S & J Printing custom t-shirt print shop to handle projects of varying sizes, from small runs for local events to larger orders for schools and businesses.

Fravala said the company plans to continue refining its online tools based on customer feedback. "The website update is a starting point rather than a finish line," Fravala said. "Customer input will guide additional improvements as more local groups begin using the new site."
