

SDZ Law LLC Announces Return of Attorney Sarah Zigulich to Full-Time Family Law Practice

August 25, 2026

CHICAGO, IL - August 25, 2026 -

SDZ Law LLC has confirmed that founding attorney Sarah Zigulich is returning to full-time family law practice following a period focused on raising her children. With her children now in school, Zigulich is resuming active representation of clients through her Chicago-based firm, which restricts its work exclusively to matrimonial and family law matters.

Zigulich founded the firm in 2011 with a focus on divorce, child custody, spousal support, and complex financial matters, including cases involving high-net-worth individuals and high-conflict parenting relationships. Her return marks a renewed commitment to the practice she established more than a decade ago, and it comes as demand for experienced family law counsel continues across the Chicago region.

The firm, operating as SDZ Family Law, handles both agreed and contested cases and offers services spanning traditional litigation, appeals, negotiation, mediation, alternative dispute resolution, and collaborative law. Areas of practice include the negotiation of premarital agreements, the resolution of parenting disputes, the litigation of child support matters, and the defense of clients facing false allegations.

"Stepping back to focus on my own family gave me a deeper appreciation for what clients experience when they face these decisions," said Sarah Zigulich, principal of SDZ Law LLC. "Returning to practice now that my children are in school allows me to bring that perspective directly into the work. Family law is personal for everyone involved, and understanding that firsthand shapes how I approach each case."

Zigulich has been recognized by peers in her field, receiving designation as a Rising Star by Super Lawyers and as an Emerging Lawyer by Leading Lawyers. She has also served as Co-Chair of the Chicago Bar Association's Alliance for Women Committee and maintains membership in the Illinois State Bar Association and the Chicago Bar Association.

"The goal has always been to humanize a process that can feel overwhelming," Zigulich added. "Clients deserve clear information and steady guidance so they can make lawful decisions that protect their interests and their families over the long term."

E ducated at The John Marshall Law School in Chicago, Zigulich earned her law degree there and graduated cum laude from Loyola University Chicago. Her prior experience includes work as an associate attorney at established Chicago family law firms before she formed her own practice.

The firm was built with the family in mind and provides a full analysis of each case, giving attention to detail and consideration for future variables. SDZ Law LLC does not discriminate based on race, creed, color, ethnicity, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender expression, age, physical or mental ability, veteran status, military obligations, or marital status.

Updates on the firm and on Zigulich's professional activities are shared through her profile on LinkedIn, where colleagues and clients can follow developments related to the practice.
