

Dinardo Tree Care Expands Certified Arborist and Tree Service Offerings Across Greater Dallas

September 28, 2026

Dallas, TX - September 28, 2026 -

Dinardo Tree Care has expanded its certified arborist and tree trimming services across the Greater Dallas area, extending professional tree care to residential and commercial clients in Dallas, Highland Park, Preston Hollow, Lake Highlands, Lakewood, Coppell, and Highland Village.

The expansion broadens access to a full slate of tree care services, including tree pruning, fertilization, air spading, tree healthcare and diagnosis, insect and disease control, selective pruning, water management, deep root fertilization, tree and stump removal, and storm damage recovery. The company is led by an ISA Certified Arborist and holds certification from the International Society of Arboriculture under number TX-4666A.

All work performed by the company follows the ANSI A300 Tree Care Standards, which are approved by the American National Standards Institute. These standards are recognized as the final authority in the United States civil court system, and adherence ensures that tree care work aligns with established industry benchmarks.

The company noted that professional tree trimming plays a central role in both the long-term health and the appearance of trees. According to Dinardo Tree Care, every tree requires pruning on an annual basis, though the approach is not uniform across species or individual specimens. The company's arborists assess each tree individually to determine an appropriate pruning strategy intended to support a healthy life and preserve natural form.

"Trees are living systems, and each one responds differently to its environment and to the care it receives," said Jared Dinardo of Dinardo Tree Care. "Expanding across the Greater Dallas area allows more property owners to work with a certified arborist who evaluates the specific needs of every tree rather than applying a single method to all of them."

The expanded service footprint now brings Highland Village tree service alongside the company's existing coverage in surrounding communities. The company emphasizes an all-natural approach to tree care, growth, and wellness, relying on organic treatments and proven techniques carried out by certified staff.

"Following the ANSI A300 standards is not optional in this profession, it is the foundation of responsible tree care," Dinardo said. "The goal with every project, whether it involves tree trimming, deep root fertilization, or storm damage recovery, is to leave a tree healthier and more stable than it was before."

Beyond routine maintenance, the company's services address structural concerns through support systems such as braces and cables, soil compaction through air spading, and nutrient deficiencies through deep root fertilization. Diagnostic services allow the company's arborists to identify disease, structural weakness, and pest activity before problems advance.

Dinardo Tree Care serves both commercial and residential properties throughout its coverage area. The company focuses on maintaining overall tree health and wellness through organic treatments, established arboricultural techniques, and certified training.

Dinardo Tree Care is a tree care company based in Highland Village, Texas, serving the Greater Dallas area. The company is led by an ISA Certified Arborist and provides a range of tree health and maintenance services to residential and commercial clients while adhering to the ANSI A300 Tree Care Standards.
