

SDZ Law LLC Announces Return of Attorney Sarah Dorigan Zigulich to Family Law Practice in Chicago

September 01, 2026

CHICAGO, IL - September 01, 2026 -

SDZ Law LLC has announced that founding member and principal Sarah Dorigan Zigulich is resuming her full-time family law practice after taking time away to raise her children. With her children now attending school, Zigulich is returning to serve individuals and families across the Chicago area on matters including divorce, child custody, parenting time, support disputes, mediation, and complex financial cases.

Zigulich founded SDZ Law LLC in 2011 and has focused her career on matrimonial and family law. Her experience spans divorce, child custody, spousal maintenance, property division, prenuptial and postnuptial agreements, and the defense of clients facing false allegations in family-law proceedings. The firm handles cases through traditional litigation, appeals, negotiation, mediation, alternative dispute resolution, and collaborative law.

During her time away from full-time practice, Zigulich gained firsthand perspective on the personal, emotional, and everyday concerns involved in family transitions. According to the firm, that experience has shaped a practice approach centered on understanding the daily realities clients face as they navigate change. Business Times also covered her return to the practice.

"Stepping back to raise my children gave me a deeper awareness of what families experience during difficult transitions," said Sarah Zigulich, founding principal of SDZ Law LLC. "Returning to practice with that perspective allows me to help clients understand their options and develop practical solutions that safeguard what matters most to them."

Zigulich has been recognized by peers throughout her career, including being named a 2019 Rising Star by Super Lawyers, a 2019 Emerging Lawyer by Leading Lawyers, and a Top 40 Under 40 honoree by The National Advocates in 2017. She has served as Co-Chair of the Chicago Bar Association's Alliance for Women Committee and is a member of the Illinois State Bar Association and the Chicago Bar Association. She has also contributed articles to the Illinois State Bar Association on topics relevant to family law practice. More about Zigulich can be found at Signal News NY.

The firm reports that its work covers a range of family law needs, including negotiating premarital agreements, resolving parenting disputes, litigating child support matters, and defending clients against false allegations of abuse, neglect, or other misconduct. In each area, the firm emphasizes a thorough and compassionate approach intended to protect clients' rights and interests.

"Family law touches every part of a person's life, from finances to parenting," Zigulich added. "The goal is to guide clients through the process with clarity and care, so they can make informed decisions during a challenging time."

News of the return has been noted across outlets including Financial Content and others, reflecting continued attention to developments within the Chicago legal community.
