

BH3 Industries Introduces Free Whole-Home Electrical Inspection Program for Property Owners

September 02, 2026

MESQUITE, TX - September 02, 2026 -

BH3 Industries, a licensed electrical services company serving Mesquite, Texas, has announced that it will provide free whole-home electrical safety inspections throughout next month. The program is designed to give homeowners and property owners added confidence in the condition of their electrical systems at no additional cost.

The complimentary electrical inspection covers key components of a home's electrical system, including panels, breakers, outlets, and wiring. Trained technicians will examine each area for signs of wear, potential hazards, and code concerns, then explain their findings and any recommended next steps. The initiative reflects a growing emphasis across the electrical trade on preventive assessment, as aging systems and increased household power demands place added strain on residential wiring.

Electrical systems play a central role in the safety and comfort of any property, and issues such as overloaded circuits, outdated panels, and failing breakers often go unnoticed until they cause disruption. By offering the inspections at no charge, BH3 Industries aims to help property owners identify concerns early and make informed decisions about repairs, upgrades, or installations.

"An electrical system rarely announces a problem before it becomes serious, and many homeowners simply do not know what condition their wiring or panel is in," said Billy Wyatt of BH3 Industries. "The goal of this program is to give people a clear, honest look at their electrical system so they can plan ahead rather than react to an emergency."

The inspections build on the range of residential work already offered by BH3 Industries in Mesquite, which includes lighting, outlets, panel work, breaker repairs, dedicated circuits, EV chargers, and surge protection. The company takes an individualized approach to each property, evaluating what a given space needs rather than applying a single standard solution across every home.

"Every home is different, and the inspection reflects that," Wyatt added. "When the work is finished, the property owner walks away with a better understanding of the system that keeps their home running safely."

In addition to residential services, BH3 Industries provides electrical work for commercial buildings such as offices, retail spaces, restaurants, warehouses, and rental properties, including build-outs and equipment installations. The company also maintains emergency electrical services and operates around the clock, seven days a week, to address urgent issues as they arise.

BH3 Industries emphasizes straightforward communication, clean work, and dependable results throughout each project. Because electrical work carries direct safety implications, the company stresses the importance of having repairs and installations handled by a licensed electrician. Additional information about the inspection program and the company's services is available through the BH3 Industries Facebook page.
