

J&D Tree Service Expands Dedicated Emergency Response Service Ahead of Storm Season

October 07, 2026

MONETT, MO - October 07, 2026 -

J&D Tree Service, a locally owned tree care company serving Southwest Missouri, has formally expanded its dedicated emergency tree response service in preparation for the spring-through-fall storm season. The expansion arrives as the region enters a period historically marked by high winds, ice storms, and tornadoes that frequently bring trees down onto homes, vehicles, fences, and power lines.

The enhanced service covers a range of storm-related hazards, including trees fallen on structures or vehicles, dangerously leaning trees, hanging branches threatening buildings, trees blocking roads or driveways, storm-split trees, and root damage resulting from flooding. The J&D Tree Service Emergency Tree Service operates on a 24-hour basis across Barry, Lawrence, Stone, and surrounding counties, with crews positioned to reach communities including Monett, Cassville, Aurora, and Mount Vernon.

Under the restructured protocols, the company has streamlined its response process to reduce the time between a customer call and crew arrival. When a property owner reports a hazard, the company assesses the urgency of the situation and dispatches crews quickly. An on-site hazard assessment follows, with crews prioritizing the safety of people before addressing property concerns. The team then removes the immediate hazard and completes full debris cleanup. The company can also provide invoices, photographs, and documentation to support homeowners' insurance claims, as many policies cover tree removal when a tree damages a covered structure.

John Marmon, a spokesperson for J&D Tree Service, said the improved protocols allow for more efficient mobilization when severe weather strikes. "Storm damage rarely happens at a convenient hour, which is why the response system has been built around speed and safety," Marmon said. "When a tree comes down on a home or across a driveway, a family needs help right away, and the updated process is designed to get crews on site and the hazard removed as quickly as possible."

Marmon added that documentation has become an increasingly important part of emergency work. "Many property owners are unaware that their insurance may cover tree removal after a storm," he said. "Providing clear photos and invoices helps homeowners move through the claims process with far less difficulty during an already stressful time."

The timing of the expansion aligns with historical weather data showing increased severe weather activity in Southwest Missouri during the spring and early summer months. The company drew on more than two decades of field experience in restructuring its emergency operations to improve coordination across its service area.

In addition to storm response, J&D Tree Service continues to provide tree removal of hazardous, dead, or unwanted trees; professional pruning and trimming to improve tree structure and longevity; and stump grinding to eliminate tripping hazards and prepare yards for new landscaping.

J&D Tree Service is a locally owned and operated company based in Monett, Missouri, with over 20 years of experience in the industry. The company is licensed and insured and has completed more than 500 jobs while maintaining a claims-free record. It serves homeowners and property managers across Barry, Lawrence, Stone, and surrounding counties in Southwest Missouri, offering tree removal, trimming, stump grinding, and round-the-clock emergency response.
