

Good Neighbor Storage Introduces On-Site U-Haul Truck and Trailer Rentals in Neosho

October 20, 2026

NEOSHO, MO - October 20, 2026 -

Good Neighbor Storage, a newly built, Christian-owned self-storage facility in Neosho, Missouri, has announced that it now offers on-site U-Haul truck and trailer rentals as part of the U-Haul Self-Storage Affiliate Network. The addition allows customers to rent moving trucks of any size for local or long-distance moves without traveling to a separate rental location.

The new rental service brings a full range of equipment to a single location. Customers can choose from cargo and enclosed trailers, utility trailers, car trailers, and motorcycle trailers, in addition to moving trucks sized for both small relocations and larger household moves. Those planning bigger moves can combine a truck and trailer rental to transport more belongings in a single trip, reducing the number of trips required to complete a relocation.

Alongside the vehicle equipment, the facility stocks moving boxes and packing supplies on-site. This gives customers a one-stop option to rent a truck, gather packing materials, and secure a storage unit or vehicle parking space during the same visit. Reservations carry no cost to book and are guaranteed.

"Adding on-site truck and trailer rentals was a natural step for a facility built around making moves and storage simpler for the people of Neosho," said Cory Platt of Good Neighbor Storage. "Customers can now handle an entire move from one place, whether that means picking up packing boxes, securing the right size truck, or parking a vehicle for the long term."

The service reflects the company's broader approach to serving the community. Good Neighbor Storage U-Haul Rentals join a lineup of services that already includes traditional self-storage units, specialized vehicle storage, and business storage solutions. Storage options range from compact 10x10 spaces to large outdoor parking areas suitable for recreational vehicles, boats, and commercial equipment.

"The goal has always been to meet the full spectrum of storage and moving needs in one place," Platt said. "Faith-based values guide how the facility is run, from clean and well-maintained spaces to the way customers are treated when they walk through the door."

Business storage solutions at the facility cater to local companies that need room for paperwork, inventory, overstock, construction materials, seasonal equipment, and tools. These options help businesses maintain efficient operations without managing excess materials on-site. For individuals and families, units accommodate temporary needs during home renovations as well as long-term storage.

The moving center operates as a full-service resource, combining packing supplies, boxes, moving trucks, and cargo trailers under one roof. The company also maintains partnerships with professional movers to provide additional support throughout the relocation process.
