September 01, 2026

GREENWOOD, IN - September 01, 2026 -
Complete Comfort Heating, A/C & Plumbing Repair has expanded its service operations across Central Indiana, extending its heating, cooling, and plumbing coverage from its Greenwood base to additional communities throughout the region. The expansion reflects growing demand for residential and commercial HVAC and plumbing service in the areas surrounding Indianapolis.

Founded in 2003, the company has grown from serving a single market to supporting customers in multiple Central Indiana communities, including Fishers, Bloomington, Brownsburg, and New Castle. Each location provides the same range of services offered from the company's original Greenwood operation, spanning cooling, heating, plumbing, indoor air quality, and geothermal systems.

Homeowners seeking air conditioning repair brownsburg in can now access the company's technicians alongside residents in neighboring communities. The broadened footprint is intended to reduce response times for emergency repairs and routine maintenance calls throughout the region, which the company handles around the clock without after-hours fees.

The expansion also brings air conditioning repair bloomington in within the company's regular service range, connecting one of the state's larger university communities to the same heating and cooling support available at other locations. Service technicians address AC installation, maintenance, and repair, along with ductless mini split systems and emergency HVAC work.

Demand for air conditioning repair greenwood in remains steady at the company's founding location, where the business continues to serve as an operational hub for the surrounding territory. From that base, Complete Comfort coordinates dispatch, scheduling, and technical support across its network of service areas.

"The growth across Central Indiana comes from a straightforward goal, which is being close enough to reach customers quickly when a system fails," said Ken Hale, a representative of Complete Comfort Heating, A/C & Plumbing Repair. "Serving communities from Greenwood out to Fishers, Bloomington, Brownsburg, and New Castle lets the team respond to heating, cooling, and plumbing needs the way neighbors would."

The company provides a full slate of services beyond cooling repair. Its heating division covers maintenance, installation, and repair for furnaces, heat pumps, and boilers. The plumbing division handles drain cleaning, fixture installation, water line and sewer work, water heater service, and commercial plumbing projects. Additional offerings include water treatment, geothermal heating and cooling, and indoor air quality services such as air duct cleaning, air quality testing, dehumidifier installation, and UV air purification.

"Each new service area is treated as part of one connected operation rather than a separate outpost," Hale added. "That approach keeps standards consistent and gives customers across the region access to the same technical resources."

Complete Comfort Heating, A/C & Plumbing Repair offers 24/7 availability for emergency repairs, along with financing options, maintenance plans, and a referral program. The company serves both residential and commercial customers across Central Indiana.
