May 07, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

MyDivorcePapers.com has announced that it is offering free quotes for cheap online filing for couples wishing to get a divorce. It is pointed out that the services provided on the website are faster and cheaper than competitor services, or filing through a lawyer in person. To provide clients with more information about the online divorce process, the team at Divorce Papers encourages those interested to check the website at mydivorcepapers.com.

When visiting the company's "About Us" page, clients can learn about the steps involved as well as about the company's 100% guarantee on all documents utilized and filed throughout the process. MyDivorcePapers.com also supplies all visitors to the site with the option for getting a free quote, which can be accessed by entering contact information for the team to get in touch with for an estimate on pricing. They have said the following regarding their forms and preparation methods:

"Our online Divorce Forms Preparation service is designed to make the entire process of getting a divorce not only easy but also affordable. Divorce can be a traumatic and costly event for all those involved. Whenever possible, it is best to get an uncontested, no-fault divorce, as it is ultimately cheapest, fastest, and easiest way to get a divorce behind you, so you can move on with your respective lives."

Although the company is based out of California, the services are being provided to all states, each with their own processes and documentation to be completed. Clients can easily select their state from the bottom of the company Home page, and as the company suggests, "Get Divorced in Your State Now! As easy as 1-2-3!" The fast-paced filing has court approval, and provides all users with a money back guarantee for 100% of funds spent on the online divorce filing services if the divorce doesn't go through as planned. They have said:

"If any divorce forms completed by MyDivorcePapers.com are not accepted by the correct court due to an error on our part, MyDivorcePapers.com will either correct the forms, or issue a 100% refund."

State guidelines, divorce laws, paperwork, things to know, terminology, pricing, common questions, and more can be found on the site, along with the free quote mentioned above. Clients will also find that there are a number of customer reviews made available, which give insight to those new to the services on what to expect throughout the process, and the success rates of those who have tried them in the past.

The company has suggested that all couples or individuals seeking divorce should contact them for a free quote as soon as possible, as this allows them the time necessary to research the circumstances in question and provide an appropriate estimate on price.
