Dental problems can become urgent when pain, trauma, infection, or damage to a restoration is involved. Nashville Aesthetic Dentistry, located at 105 Powell Ct. in Brentwood, Tennessee, provides emergency dental care for patients dealing with these concerns. The emergency dentist in Brentwood provides a service that gives patients a point of contact when a problem cannot wait for a routine appointment.

Nashville Aesthetic Dentistry is positioned in the Maryland Farms business park, south of Nashville, making its office a local resource for patients in Brentwood and surrounding communities. Its emergency dentistry services address several types of urgent dental concerns, including severe toothaches, broken or fractured teeth, dental abscesses and infections, loose or lost fillings, loose or broken crowns, broken dentures, and bleeding gums.

Dental trauma can require particular attention. A tooth may become cracked, fractured, or broken after an accident or other impact, while more serious trauma can result in a tooth being knocked out. Prompt contact with a dental office can help determine appropriate care. The dental team evaluates urgent concerns and provides treatment based on the condition presented.

Severe tooth pain is another reason patients may need emergency dental care. Pain can interfere with eating, sleeping, and daily activities, while the underlying cause may not be apparent without a dental examination. Abscesses and infections are also concerns that warrant timely attention. Nashville Aesthetic Dentistry evaluates these conditions as part of its emergency dentistry services.

Problems involving dental restorations can become urgent as well. A loose filling may leave the affected tooth exposed, while a loose or broken crown can create discomfort or affect the tooth it was intended to protect. Broken dentures can interfere with normal use, and unusual or persistent bleeding from the gums may also require evaluation. Addressing these problems begins with determining what has happened and what treatment the dental condition requires.

The practice also provides a process for contacting the office about dental emergencies outside regular hours. Nashville Aesthetic Dentistry's posted office hours are Monday through Thursday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., with the office closed Friday through Sunday. For dental emergencies outside those hours, the practice instructs callers to use the emergency phone option by dialing 707 after which a team member will return the call and provide assistance. This after-hours contact option is intended for urgent dental situations that arise when the office is closed.

Some situations may require medical emergency care rather than a routine dental visit. Significant facial trauma or symptoms that affect breathing or swallowing can warrant immediate medical attention. Patients experiencing those symptoms should seek emergency medical care rather than relying solely on a dental appointment. For dental problems that remain within the scope of urgent dental treatment, contacting the dental office can help clarify the appropriate next step.

Patients looking for an emergency dentist in Brentwood can contact Nashville Aesthetic Dentistry at 615-371-8878 to discuss an urgent dental concern. The practice's emergency services are available to address problems involving damaged teeth, severe pain, infections, restorations, dentures, and bleeding gums.
